Decision On Coast Vacancy

A Sunnyvale city management consultant, Clarence W. Masonheimer, has been named to replace Karl Baldwin as city manager of Pacifica, Mayor Harland Minshew said today.

Masonheimer has served as city manager of Watsonville, assistant city manager of El Cerrito and Modesto and executive assistant to the city manager of Sunnyvale.

He is presently employed as a consultant for a firm which conducts surveys for cities and metropolitan areas.

Minshew said the new manager was chosen from 25 applicants for the position, which was vacated last month when Baldwin resigned to accept a government post in Vietnam.

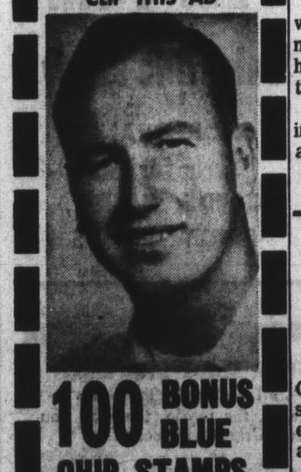
The new manager, who resides in Sunnyvale with his wife and two children, will take over the post February 1. He will be sworn in tonight at the regular meeting of the city council.

Masonheimer will take over management of Pacifica's government from Asst. City Mgr. James Swayne, who has filled the manager's slot since Baldwin's departure.

Westborough Attack On Expressway

A group of Escanyo Drive residents Monday night told South San Francisco planning commissioners the proposed Westborough Expressway through their neighborhood would render their property "practically worthless."

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gamma and Mrs. Mary Ortner told commissioners their bedroom windows "would be only a few feet from an elevated expressway which will handle 40,000 vehicles each day" if present plans are carried out.



To Schneider:

Distinguished Citizen Honor

San Bruno businessman William Schneider will be named "outstanding young man of the year" tonight at the annual San Bruno-Millbrae Jaycee awards banquet.

Schneider, who is serving his second term as president of the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, is a past chairman of the San Mateo County United Crusade, a Rotary member and active supporter of the Y.M.C.A.

He is married and has six children.

San Bruno Mayor Karney Barberian will present the Distinguished Service Award on behalf of the Jaycees.

Oceanside Drive

Canines Are In 'Doghouse'

Outside in the rain, a dog yelped . . .

Inside city hall a handful of Oceanside Drive homeowners leaned against a rail, pleading Daly City Councilmen for control of dogs in their Westlake region.

Mrs. D. K. Murray of 44 Oceanside, as spokesman for a delegation of residents, chided leash law enforcement — animal control in general.

"Dogs," she said, "are quite a problem on our block."

The Oceanside neighbors have called the police, the SPCA and Westlake Improvement Association officials for help in solving the problem.

The results have been negative: "We feel we've been shortchanged," Mrs. Murray explained. As a result, they appeared for council aid because, "We've done all we can as private individuals," she said.

In fact, she noted, one housewife even apprehended one canine said to be troublesome and held it in her garage until authorities arrived.

That same dog still is roaming the streets, Mrs. Murray and the others asserted.

Tom Greenwood, who said he was in the Westlake Association office daily, in contrast praised the efforts of the Humane Society. He urged that unit be given specific cases with which to work.

They must have explicit information and know where the dog is, he said.

"Someone hasn't been doing something," Mrs. Murray said, "and we'd like to know what that something is."

City Manager Ed Frank revealed that the Westlake Association had appeared January 9 with a plea for dog control, and

Rowe Now Is The Assistant City Manager

David Rowe, assistant to Daly City's manager, Ed Frank, since 1963, Monday night was elevated to "assistant City Manager."

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett made the announcement at the regular meeting of the City Council.

Lycett described Rowe's efforts as "one of the outstanding jobs in the city."

Rowe "earned this job," the mayor explained.

Program Dilution Charged

A representative of the American Federation of Teachers (AFST) Monday night charged Jefferson High School trustees and administrators with "all but scrapping" future CORE programs in the district and accused the district of "questionable mis-use of Federal funds."

Emmett O'Boyle, president of the AFT, Local 1481, leveled the charges during the district's regular meeting. More than 100 parents, teachers and administrators jammed the small meeting room.

"CORE" is the designated project name under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) Title One funds, and involves some 75 high school-age students in the Jefferson District.

O'Boyle said CORE was started "by the sweat and with the ideas of a small group of devoted teachers" working on their own time "and now the administrators have taken it out of their hands, and diluted it to a point where it resembles the original concept in name only."

The union representative said he was speaking on behalf of all of the 12 teachers participating in the CORE program and ended his hour-long speech with a three-pont demand which included AFT's insistence that teachers be given the right to plan, prepare and approve the final budget before the program is submitted to the State.

Th "qutstionable mis-use" of federal funds, according to O'Boyle, centered around some $6,000 worth of educational equipment now stored in a students' locker room at Jefferson High School.

The equipment was ordered last year, and included several 8-mm. movie projectors and related visual aid machines — but no film or other components.

Hearing on S.S.F. Project Is Delayed

A crowd of more than 50 South San Francisco residents turned out for a planning commission hearing on a use permit request for construction of a parochial school-church complex in the city Monday night.

The hearing did not materialize.

City Planner Daniel Pass said the scheduled hearing on the use permit was "called off at the last minute Monday and continued until the February 14 meeting."

Pass revealed last week that he will recommend that the permit, requested by the Roman Catholic Archbishop of San Francisco, he denied "because the complex would take 18 acres of valuable real estate off the city's tax rolls and consume one of the last areas i the city suitable for residential development."

City Engineer Louis Goss has also voiced opposition to the planned church-school complex because "it would generate entirely too much traffic in a very confined area."

Plans submitted by the Archdiocese of San Francisco cal for onstruction of a high school, element ry school, church, rectory, and teacher housing facilities on the east side of Callan Boulevard in the Westborough area.

Pass said his office has received "quite a bit of comment" on the proposed complex, and the matter of the use permit "will probably create considerable controversy."

The hearing was postponed Monday night at the request of the archdiocese.

Nursery School

Noise Blasted By Hillsiders

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Homeowners in the Hillside Avenue area of Daly City have shifted their attention away from that controversial car wash across from Colma Intermediate School to a nursery school on Florence Street three blocks away.

In a complaint brought before the Daly City Council the region's homeowners complained children playing in the nursery "distract" them and "we cannot enjoy our backyards with all the noise from the children.

The petition, signed by all four homeowners in the Florence Street area near the school, said additional noise from teachers "Hulloing (sic, at) the children" was also distracting them.

Across the street from the Toyland Nursery School is the Vista Grande Elementary School.

The four homeowners pointed out their homes are "surrounded on three sides by playground areas."

Homeowners claim they had protested the nursery's use permit prior to it being granted some time ago.

"We felt and feel even now, more so, that this school should be located in an area where homeowners' don't

Meetings To Be Held In South S.F.

The "downtown rejuvenation committee" of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce will meet at noon today at Bertolucci's Restaurant, C of C Director Frank Fairbanks said.

Committee members will discuss progress on the downtown beautification program and also the Colma Creek drainage situation.

Thursday night, the Chamber will hold its first general membership meeting of the year at the New Southern Restaurant on El Camino Real. New directors will be elected at the meeting, which begins at 6:30 p.m.

South San Francisco Police Detective Bill Peterson will speak on crime prevention.

Mudslide A Threat In Storm

At least three engine companies, backed by reserve forces, battled for more than five hours Saturday to save a row of apartment buildings in Daly City threatened by a gigantic mud slide.

The mud started oozing down the lower slopes of San Bruno Mountain onto the Konmstouft Court apartments shortly after 10 a.m.

Rocks, many as large as basketballs, began breaking loose from the mountain and plummeting down onto the backs of several of the buildings.

Firemen first tried channeling the gummy mess around the apartments into the street below using hand shovels and portable pumps.

But as the downpour continued the mud and rocks began streaming down faster — pressing against the structures. For a time, firemen worked waist deep in the muck.

As the mountain of muck built up almost to rear window level, a huge hole was battered through the wall of one apartment, allowing the muck to flow to the street below.

A plastic "tube" was used to channel the mud on its way through the back of the apartment and out the other side.

Fears that the entire side of the mountain would break loose onto the apartments lasted throughout the morning and into the late afternoon.

Not until several hours after the rains stopped did exhausted firemen and volunteers, along with apartment house dwellers, breath a sigh of relief.

Where all the water came from was still unknown today.

D. C. Councilmen Oppose Third Rail for B.A.R.T.

Daly City councilmen are "generally against" the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's installation of a "third rail" electric line in this city, Mayor Bernard 'Bud' Lycett said this week.

"If they install that type of ground rail, there's not much we can do about it," Lycett told The Times. "From time to time they (BARTD) have attempted to cram things down our throats — this is just another case of the same."

But City Engineer Art Reschke took an opposing stand and said he had "withdrawn any objections to the live rail," after conferring with staff members following Thursday's Public Utilities Commission hearing in San Francisco.

BARTD officials said they "have had authority all along" to install third rails anywhere.

The purpose in the recent proposed amendment change was to "clarify certain aspects of the general order," Stan Thies, BARTD's director of information said Friday.

A ruling on the issue was not expected from PUC Examiner Emerson until next month, according to a BARTD spokesman.

Suggested changes to BARTD's "third rail" order prohibits construction of the single-rail direct current (DC) system in or through cities or similar areas unless elevated, installed underground or completely fenced along the right-of-way where no grade crossings exist.

The system must be "installed and maintained in a manner that will insure maximum safety protection for patrons and employes," the proposed amendment stipulates.

Along fenced rights-of-way, third rail construction at ground level shall not be permitted unless such rights-of-way, easement or other property upon which the rail is located is completely fenced.

At various openings in the fence, cattle guards or suitable gates must be used with warning signs properly installed, examiner Emerson was told.

"This type of system-wide third rail which is being proposed by BARTD is similar, if not identical, to those in use on all modern rapid transit systems.

"The ground rail provides maximum safety protection for everyone and actual experience with this system on our Diablo test track — through a residential community — has demonstrated the effeciency of our safety features," attorney Warren P. Marsden, representing BARTD during the PUC hearings, said.

Unfortunately, inborn fears connected with the third rail make it hard to convince persons it is entirely safe, Thies acknowledged.

"Actually, we asked for this amendment to add to the public's protection — not to take away," he said.

Ryan Urges State Action On S.S.F. Crossing Peril

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan (D-S.S.F.) declared Friday it is time to take the Junipero Serra Boulevard-Clay Street crossing dispute to Sacramento.

This dispute has become a hot issue in South San Francisco.

Several children have been killed in traffic accidents at the intersection in recent years. Six-year-old Linda Reid was struck last October, after stepping out of a school bus.

Assemblyman Ryan called a meeting to discuss the controversy Friday morning at the request of South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucelli. In attendance at the city hall conference room were Alan S. Hart, district engineer for the State Division of Highways, Assemblyman Ryan, Mayor Bertucelli, Vice Mayor Patrick E. Ahern, City Mgr. Eugene Aiello and Police Chief John Fabbri.

Hart said the Division of Highways has never built a pedestrian overcross on a conventional highway after construction. He added, "We just turned down two . . . Middlefield Road in Redwood City and one in Tiburon."

Mayor Bertucelli then asked him what was the status of the report he had made on the Junipero Serra-Clay Street crossing. Hart said the report was being studied in Sacramento.

Ryan pointed out that four months had passed since the death of the Reid child. Then Hart and Ryan got into a heated discussion.

Hart said, "It's not possible for me to recommend building it under Division of Highway policy."

Ryan told Hart, "Then I'll go over your head."

"Go to Sacramento then," Hart said. "That's your only out . . . it's not a proper expenditure; besides, who says the kids will use it, once we put it in?"

There was some talk around the table and Police Chief Fabbri cited the present traffic accident figures, saying, "We need that crossing now . . . in fact we needed it in September . . . then the Reid girl would still be playing with her friends."

Ryan reaffirmed his position on the matter. "Then we go over your head," he told Hart again. "Let's leave it at that. We go to Sacramento."

Both the mayor and the city manager agreed.

Later in the afternoon, Robert Reid, of 424 Newman Street, met with Ryan at Ryan's district office on Linden Avenue in South San Francisco. The father of the girl seemed assuaged.

Man Dies in Crash at Pacifica

Heavy rains and winds were the cause of much traffic trouble Friday, causing one fatality and several injuries.

Dead was Thomas H. Stephenson, 24, 152 Peralta Road, of Shamrock Farms, Pacifica, killed at 10:50 a.m. Friday when his southbound car crossed the centerline of the Cabrillo Highway in Pacifica and hit head-on the northbound vehicle of James Lee Sutliffe, 22, of Ben Lomond, a salesman, highway patrolmen said.

Patrolman Dave Joost said he thought the Stephenson car, which was estimated by a witness to be going 50 miles an hour, may have run over an oil slick on the roadway and gone out of control. The vehicle was going too fast for conditions on the straight, flat undivided road, Joost stated.

Stephenson was thrown out of his car and probably killed on impact, Joost went on. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital. Sutliffe is reported in satisfactory condition there with a chest contusion and cut chin.

Stephenson was married just a short time ago, Deputy Coroner Robert Cole said. His wife's name is Bobbie.

He is survived also by his father, Gilbert, of Daly City. This is the second tragedy in the family in the past two years. A brother reportedly was killed by a gunshot in San Francisco at that time.

The heavy wind picked up the front end of a small compact car on the Cabrillo Highway at 6:05 last week, spinning it around and causing it to back into a bridge abutment a half-mile north of Pescadero Road and sending both riders to Sequoia Hospital.

Maureen Mahoney, 17, 2722 Monserat Avenue, Belmont, is reported in good condition today with a left arm injury. The driver, William Robert LeBlanc, 19, 1854 Barton Avenue, Redwood City, who was treated for a nose injury and released. Patrolmen said he too was driving too fast for weather conditions.

Five persons went to Mills Hospital after a spectacular four-car pileup on Bayshore Freeway just south of the Nineteenth Avenue overpass at 11:10 a.m. Friday.

In satisfactory condition today are two drivers, Patricia Ann Duran, 23, of Los Gatos, a VISTA volunteer, with head and leg injuries; and Don Ray Rehn, 24, 3015 Bayshore Boulevard, Redwood City, a foreman, with cuts and back injuries.

Three passengers in the Duran car, all from the Santa Clara Valley, were treated for minor hurts and released.

have to be constantly annoyed and endangered by the operation," the petition read.

"In the house next to the school, the owner has to keep his windows and bathroom skylight shut to keep the noise out," the petition pointed out, adding, "Children throw things in our backyards, and nothing is done about it."

They also felt that the nursery created a traffic safety problem which might result in some child being hurt.

"We do not have a street in front of our homes, we have a ten-foot-wide concrete slab which the property owners use as a driveway and sidewalk," the homeowners said.

According to the complaint the nursery is located at the end of a deadend street, "and we are subjected to an intolerable amount of traffic using our ten-foot-wide driveway."

Biggest complaint of the homeowners, however, was the fact tht the $30,000-plus per year nursery business, was being operated in an R-1 area.

Homeowners hoped that once revisions to the present "home occupations" ordinance are passed, the Toyland Nursery School will have to pack up its toys and relocate elsewhere.

Transit Site Cost Study Approved

A $13,750 program to appraise the value of properties along the Southern Pacific right of way was approved Monday by the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority.

The purpose of the program is to gain preliminary information to assist the Authority's engineering consultants in the selection of possible precise routes for a rapid transit system and the location of suchfacili ties as stations and parking lots.

The appraisal will be made by the Appraisal Research Corporation of San Francisco, Honolulu and San Jose, in association with E. T. Brodd Company of San Jose. The joint venture bid $12,500 for the work, which will be done as a subcontract under the consulting team of George S. Nolts Company-DeLeuw Cather. The cost is increased 10 per cent to compensate the consultants for expenses of administration. John S. Lilly, general manager of the Authority, urged that the work be done under the consultants rather than under his staff, which would have saved the 10 per cent, because he and his staff are too busy with other things.

Member Michael DeBernardi of Daly City voted against the arrangement. He said he was not convinced that the staff could not handle the entire matter by making use of the county assessor's property appraisals.

that he the next day had written to the county Humane Society passing along the sentiments of the city council that enforement be more stringent.

A reply has not been received, Frank noted.

After Mrs. Murray, R. A. Benson, Mrs. R. J. Costantino, and A. C. Jensen, Jr., had pointed out examples of their dog troubles and explained their attempts to gain action, City Attorney Al Polonsky stated a willingness to meet with a "committee" of Oceanside residents.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By Donald C. Waite

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE BETWEEN "DECORATING" AND "FURNISHING"

Decorating is that special touch which turns a "house" into a "charming home".

Decorating is a creative and imaginative art. It is the ability to transform furniture and other inanimate objects into a related pleasant pattern.

In the old days you would simply buy a living room, dining room and bedroom suite and your home would be furnished.

Today, people just don't buy "sets" of furniture if they really want to decorate.

Colors, fabrics, textures, arrangements, walls, floors, ceilings, windows, lighting, and accessories all have to be taken into consideration so that the entire picture will have coherence, utility and beauty.

And, of course, with it all, your home should reflect your likes and your personality.

It's really not difficult to turn your "house" into a "charming home", and have a home that is not just "furnished", but one that is smartly "decorated".

We can give you a fine selection of furniture from which you can choose, and we offer you free decorating help and ideas without cost or obligation. We invite you to come in, or call us at PL 6-7500. Our decorators here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evenings 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience.

by and allow a misguided administration to bungle a program which helps students of low ability," O'Boyle said.

Edward D. Morgan, Jefferson district superintendent, said he "was deeply concerned" over the grievances surrounding the CORE program and "thought they were on the road to settlement of the issues" following a series of meetings and excahnge of correspondence between the AFT, administrative personnel and his own office.

"But I am particularly concerned with the charges of 'questionable mis-use of federal funds' leveled against this administration by Mr. O'Boyle," Morgan said.

"I further charge Mr. O'Boyle and his organization with interference with this program and I think it's deplorable when someone instructs teachers not to meet with the administration," Morgan said, referring to attempts made by a member of the administration to question a CORE teacher on some of the issues.

COMMENT

Of Time And The Freeways

Time and the pressure of change have a way of forcing the issues that both the people and politicians would like to dodge.

A sample of this is acknowledgement in official quarters that the increasing traffic on Bayshore Freeway is fast growing toward nightmare proportions. Indeed, many regular commuters believe that the nightmare is already here.

This is why there is nothing theoretical about the State Highway Commission study of double-decking the Bayshore Freeway or the coming construction of a Bayfront Freeway extending into waters of the bay. Assemblyman Carl Britschgi wants an "in depth" study of the double-deck proposal, possibly as a toll road, while Senator Richard Dolwig believes both the double-decking and a new Bayfront Freeway will be needed within a score of years.

There are other opinions. The Highway Division believes that completion of the new Junipero Serra Freeway will temporarily ameliorate the crowding of Bayshore Freeway, but the swelling population in the northern part of San Mateo County already begins to show that this new freeway will be close to capacity use before it is fully completed.

Others hold that the only solution is fast action on rapid transit, a project now in the hands of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority, But there are also opinions that Peninsula residents, long accustomed to the mobility of auto transportation, will not abandon it for inconvenience and constriction of a common carrier system. Many of the people who hold this view are also firm in belief that Peninsula taxpayers will refuse to bond themselves for a rapid transit system that many Peninsulans would have no occasion to use.

What is coming in the next few years, perhaps as early as 1970, is a confrontation of opposing opinions on what will be needed and this may very well be a confrontation in the shadow of certainty that all the opinions are correct and that all of the possible solutions, now thought of as alternatives, must be implemented.

Thus, the issues are to be forced and now is a good time for everyone to start thinking about them. For a while, at least, there may be a choice.

Group of Officials Ponders Future Solutions to Airport Traffic Ills

The highway problems surrounding San Francisco International Airport were brought into sharper focus last week at a meeting of "the highway relocation committee."

Formed to consider moving Bayshore Freeway westerly, between the airport, Millbrae, and San Bruno, the committeemen rapidly agreed this is only one part of the bigger problem.

Chaired by San Mateo County Supervisor James Fitzgerald, the committee agreed that to avoid strangling the airport, choking the neighboring cities, and blocking Bayshore, these six problems must be solved:

Does San Francisco's Public Utilities Commission really want the Bayshore moved?

What engineering answers can be found to the main entrance overpass, including possible entrances to Millbrae?

Would the extension of Rollins Road, possibly to San Bruno, and its connection to airport service roads, help separate cargo traffic from passenger traffic?

How can the connection of Route 186, the freeway westward into San Bruno and Pacifica, be speeded up?

Should be the airport take a position choosing between a double-decked Bayshore and an offshore freeway?

What more immediate improvements can be made at north and south ends of the airport, including the Millbrae off-ramp and the San Bruno interchange connection with United's maintenance base?

State Highway engineer Alan S. Hart said he does not believe a double-decked Bayshore is feasible, but that some decision must be made before the airport's planning for local overpasses can be concluded.

Airport engineers said the presently planned San Bruno overpass will reach the absolute height limit of underflight-pattern structures, and no third level for a double-decked freeway would be possible.

Councilman Charles Yetter of Millbrae offered the proposal of extending Rollins Road northward through the now-underdeveloped area between Southern Pacific and the Bayshore, saying this could be connected to the airport and not only make that land useable but provide additional traffic relief.

Charles Gregg, vice president of Pan American, said an additional turn-off lane, for northbound traffic at Millbrae Avenue, would help free up the Bayshore.

County Engineer Don Wilson said he did not think a Millbrae connection to the airport's main entrance was practical, but should be investigated.

George Hansen, airport manager, said the airport's most immediate problem was an overpass crossing the entrance road to get interior to end a conflict between interior traffic and passenger travel. This is being planned, he said.

Books on Dignity And Man's Worth

Samuel Chandler

As I listened to a group of Explorer Scouts pledge themselves to recognize the dignity and worth of their fellow men and to use fair play and good will in dealing with them, I thought of many books that could help them realize their endeavor.

A novel that has been called the greatest adventure story of modern times is Jack London's "Sea Wolf." In it, a brutal, ruthless man named Wolf Larson is pitted against Humphrey Van Weyden, a gentleman who believes in the dignity of man.

As they sail towards artic waters with Larson as the captain of a ship called the Ghost, and Humphrey as the cabin boy, they fight a ghastly battle of idealogies. One by one the leeches and cowards who make up the rest of the crew learn that courage and pity are more formidable weapons then cruelty and hate.

After a thousand spine-tingling incidents —one introduces a girl and love — Wolf is reduced to a helpless creature with sunken cheeks and strained eyes. Then Humphrey and the girl, Maud, unite their energy and efforts to remake the ship and sail back to San Francisco.

In reviewing the story, Humphrey makes an observation that, "Love, purpose, and determination, can do anything."

"THE MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION," by Lloyd C. Douglas is a story concerned with the self-enrichment that comes as a result of serving others. It tells of a cheap playboy, Robert Merrick, whose direction is changed when an inhalator is used to save his life, rather than that of an eminent brain surgeon.

With his heart full of repentance, he pushes himself through medical school to become a brain surgeon himself. Finally his conscience clears when he is called to use the skills he has developed to save the widow of the very surgeon who was denied the use of the inhalator.

As he changes from a useless playboy, to a useful doctor, Merrick learns that happiness may be found in doing hidden good deeds.

Another novel about the dignity of man that Explorers may enjoy is "A Bell for Adono." It is a story about Americans in Italy during World War II. Although his commanding general has no sympathy for the conquered Italians, Major Victor Joppolo works with a sincere interest to restore the dignity of the people of the city of Adano where he is the military governor.

For his endeavor Major Joppolo loses the respect of the officers on his staff and the friendship of General Marvin. Yet, he is successful in replacing a bell that the citizens of Adano regard as their most prized possession. For this he is hailed as a hero and commended by the Unted States government, though he is forced to leave Adano forever.

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA," is a story of the fight for a kingdom between selfish men and those who believe that good rulers are men who possess the ability to sacrifice themselves for the good of the people they govern. It is full of descriptions of duels and hairbreadth escapes, of palace intrigues and conspiracies. In two of the episodes the hero is required to take advantage of his resemblance to the king in order to impersonate him. In so doing, he saves the country from tyrants and awakes in the king a desire to deal fairly with his subjects.

Although "The Prisoner of Zenda," was written 71 years ago, it's a story that will capture a young man's interest like few others.

"Laughing Boy," by Oliver La Farge tells of a Navajo Indian boy who loves "Slim Girl," who is tainted and embittered as a result of white men who took advantage of her while she was attending an American school.

ALTHOUGH he is betrayed over and over by Americans who were supposed to be his friends, Laughing Boy realizes that basically, man is good. Even as he passes through his final tragedy, he realizes that he must not despair because of the deeds of a few men.

The lesson he learns from all his troubles is one that Explorers must learn if they meet their pledge to recognize the dignity of man and to use fair play and good will in dealing with them.

Politics Warm Up With the Weather

Frank LaPierre

POLITICS HEREABOUTS are warming up along with the weather. But two major topics on the local scene are met with cool receptions by those "in the know." For instance: Whenever the subject of hooking Brisbane onto Daly City arises, most officials plead ignorance — at least those contacted by this paper. And all those citizens on the other side of The Mountain feel the same way. They don't want the resulting rise in taxes, and (let's face it) city officials in Brisbane want to keep their jobs for awhile longer . . . Shortest declaration former Daly City mayor Albert E. Polonsky (now city attorney) ever made was last month when he resigned from the council: "I hereby tender my resignation as councilman of Daly City . . . to become effective immediately." Shortly thereafter Polonsky was appointed city attorney, replacing muni judge Paul Hupf.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO'S wants and don't-wants are back in the news again. Planner Dan Pass is standing firm against building that Catholic Church-School complex in the face of mounting moans from some councilmen. . . . As predicted, the State still hasn't committed itself on that Junpera Serra pedestrian overpass in S.S.F. where three children have already been killed.

DALY CITY ENGINEER Art Reschke has approved state plans to build a sidewalk between No. Mayfair Avenue and asked the matter be given top priority. Reason the state is in on the matter is the sidewalk starts in Daly City and ends in San Francisco. Of course it depends on which way you happen to be walking

FORMER DALY CITY personnel board member J. Jay Flynn, now a sergeant with the Highway Patrol down in El Centro, has been urged to take over the Deputy Commissioner's desk of the CHP by a group of Imperial Valley citizens. Flynn, of 64 Park Manor Drive, Daly City, is now stationed in Redwood City and was recently called back to El Centro to testify on a narcotics case. We say "back" because the ten-year veteran of the CHP was stationed in that southern Cal. city from 1955-56.

ADD TO RAPID TRANSIT the fact that "if" the Southern Pacific right-of-way is decided upon, it'll take a bundle of money to improve all those grade-crossings along the 30 miles of track. Under or overpasses will have to be constructed to allow the highspeed system to function as designed. City officials have been asking removal of these grade crossings for many years.

BLOWING THE WHISTLE: North county school kids already know about those police officers assigned as "students." It worked though. And a goodly number of students were "questioned" about dangerous drugs during the opening-months of the charade . . . Persons attending the San Mateo funeral of murder victim Theodore Young two weeks ago may not know it, but they were all photographed by police.

TOO HOT TO HANDLE is apparently what many South City officials think about that garbage incinerator. The important thing is that city's scavenger company realized some time ago that the Oyster Point dump wasn't a lifetime project and started looking around for a solution to the refuse problem. They came up with an incinerator — one that would pass even the most stringent tests of the Air Pollution Control Board. Now why can't San Francisco do the same?

CIVIC CENTER LANDSCAPING will cost some $46,000 — and that's a lotta shrubs. Ground cover will be several varied types of ivy — hope it's not of the poison variety!

The Marquee

Men Are Criticized

Barbara Bladen

SITTING DOWN IN ATHERTON'S L'Auberge Restaurant "Vie Les Girls" performers France Arnell and Jacquie Walters made quite an impression. When they stood up after luncheon and treated the gawking patrons to long, slim, boot-encased dancing legs, thighs barely covered by mini skirts and sultry eyes that were accented by theatrical makeup, they were nothing short of sensational.

The former is French, a 23-year-old dancer and singer who has performed all over the continent in the best clubs and in the movies. This is her first trip to America and she's quite candid in her impressions.

"I don't like my art taken as a joke. I expect the other girls in the show to be respectful of the show and not be vulgar, even if they have no clothes on or are doing featured acts. These shows are very popular in Europe and if they are done with good taste, America will appreciate them more, as we do."

The piquant Frenchwoman speaks English with a strong accent and she attracts attention for her strong resemblance to Audrey Hepburn but she's very serious about her nightly job as a singer.

"AMERICANS ARE NOT as appreciative of show business as Europeans. They are very passive in their applause and leave early," she added.

Miss Walters, an emigre of London who speaks excellent French was a prizewinning student at the Royal Ballet School in London at the age of 12. She also studied the dramatic arts. Her criticism of audiences encountered on this current 15-week tour of the Frederic Apcar revue are just as outspoken. And right so, I agreed.

"American men are not polite, they're not nice. European men who stand around the stage door waiting for the girls after the show, and sometimes there are 30 or 40 or more, just want to talk, laugh, joke, ask you for a drink or a bit of food. American men think they're doing you a favor by asking you out and then they expect too much."

She added that in Italy, the girls have to go home in groups of five or six to feel protected from all the friendly males who'd wait at the stage door.

MISS WALTERS CONSIDERS it a supreme compliment when a noisy, boisterous crowd of mostly male patrons stop shouting when she appears undressed because they are appreciative of her dancing and get interested in her as a performer, not just as a body.

In France, English girls are hired for 99 per cent of the revues and that includes Las Vegas and Paris Lido shows also because they have a sameness and are excellent for line work where symmetry are important. Also because English girls are so highy trained. But the French and other nationalities excel in specialty work although they are considered more tempermental.

Miss Arnell deplored the idea of having any vulgarity in the show, and is happy the director maintains a strict control. "Americans have a preconceived idea of how a sexy French girl acts and sometimes the girls subconsciously try to live up to that idea when it doesn't suit their personality or help the show's image," Miss Arnell related.

Better Business

Drugs Are Being Re-Evaluated

Lorene Beasley

Prescription and non-prescription drugs are currently subject to assessment in terms of their effectiveness as well as safety before being placed on the market.

Drugs introduced in the period between 1938-1962 are considered subject to reevaluation under the 1962 Kefauver-Harris Amendments. As amended, the current Food and Drug Law does not require the submission of evidence of safety and effectiveness were a drug marketed prior to 1938 when safety was the only issue.

HOWEVER, in 1966, the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals at Denver ruled that Halsion, an anti-acne and pimple product, marketed before 1938 was subject to proof of effectiveness under the 1962 requirements because of a change in labeling.

The Appeals Court recognized that not every change in labeling must necessarily require a manufacturer to file a new drug application but held that new combinations, dosages or claims for use or effectiveness not previously recognized may constitute a basis for a new Drug Application.

A recent Federal Trade Commission unanimous decision regarding a hemorrhoid remedy is expected to have a great impact on the non-prescription drug industry.

The Commission ruled that the American Home Products Corporation that sells Preparation H as a hemorrhoid remedy can no longer advertise its healing properties or that a "secret" ingredient is a "magical healing agent."

FTC says that neither is true and the order prohibited any advertising that singled out any particular ingredient unless it is proven effective in the treatment or relief of hemorrhoids or its symptoms.

THREE other firms with products similar to American Homes were issued similar commission orders. They are: Humphreys Medicine Co., Inc. (Humphreys Ointment); E. C. Dewitt & Co., Inc. (Dewitt's Stainless Man Zan Pile Ointment, Man Zan Pile Ointment and Dewitt's Stainless Man Zan Suppositories) and the Mentholatum Co. (Mentholatum M.P.O.).

Unfortunately the laws which regulate the labeling and advertising of "over-the-counter" drugs or home medications sold directly to the general public cannot regulate the proper usage. The chief problem is that people continue to use drugs improperly.

Many drugs have an adverse effect if used by persons suffering high blood pressure, glaucoma or kidney disease. The TV commercial does not give out this information but the label on the drug will warn a person that a drug safe for some people is not safe for those who might have a specific health problem.

Unless prescribed by a doctor, do not take any drug indefinitely. Many non-prescription drugs clearly state that they are intended only for temporary relief of minor symptoms.

If some symptoms persist, check with a doctor.

S.S.F. Chief Backs Anti-Crime Program

South San Francisco Police Chief John Fabbri, one of the Bay Area's top law enforcement officers and a former member of the President's Commission on Junveile Delinquency, this week endorsed Gov. Ronald Reagan's six-point anti-crime program as "a step in the right direction."

Fabbri, who recently returned from an assignment as a police management consultant for the International Association of Police Chiefs, said, "We must begin to make more progress in law enforcement to combat the alarming increase in crime in our state, and I think this is what the governor is attempting to do."

Fabbri said he especially approves of the governor's proposal to impose the life penalty for certain crimes of violence.

"There are just too many two- and three-time losers to go on turning these people loose on society. I think the governor is correct in advocating the life sentence for these offenses, but feel we should go further in this direction, and review the procedures under which these offenders are paroled."

"There are too many prisoners released as rehabilitated who still harbor the same agressions and resentments against society which triggered their original offense."

Fabbri said he also approves of all the other proposals in the package, but felt he "should not comment on the proposal pertaining to the appointing of judges, since that is not within my specific area."

The new governor has proposed a revision of the present system of appointing judges in order to "seek and maintan the highest standards of judicial excellence."

Commenting on the proposed creation of a California Crime Foundation for research the South San Francisco police chief said such an institution is urgently needed "to keep pace with the technical advances utilized by the criminal element of today."

"Let's face it," he said, "criminals are becoming smarter and better educated, along with everybody else."

Fabbri said he personally feels the governor's proposal to curb the distribution of pornography to young people is worthy of serious consideration, and that pornography plays a major role in forming "criminal attitudes" in some juveniles.

He thinks local authorities should be permitted to pass laws to cope with vice "to the full limits of the Constitution," and would like to see the Supreme Court's position on this matter deleted.

Fabbri, a police officer for more than 17 years, is a graduate of the National Police Academy and is presently chairman of the San Mateo County Juvenile Justice Commission.

Bruno Youth Held in S. F.

A youth who tried to rob a delicatessen is dead of bullet wounds and two accomplices are in custody, San Francisco police said Monday.

Robert Alva, 16, a student at Balboa High School, was fatally wounded Saturday night in a delicatessen in San Francisco's Mission District.

Police said the proprietor, William Kelly, told them he fired in self-defense after the three youths entered, one of them brandishing a gun.

Kelly told police that he was about to comply with the trio's demands for money when Alva approached him from the side of the counter. Kelly pulled a .25 caliber automatic and fired at the gunman and at Alva. "I thought I was going to be shot," Kelly said.

Firemen In Bruno Save Man, Wife

An elderly couple was rescued from their blazing, smoke-filled home early Monday morning by a team of San Bruno firemen.

Kenneth Young and his wife, Florence, both in their late sixties, were found in a rear bedroom "staggering around and almost unconscious" by the firemen who smashed into the Hazel Avenue home through the front door.

A window of the bedroom was broken open by firemen and the couple handed to waiting rescuers outside.

The fire caused an estimated $1,600 damage to the home, and was first reported shortly after 2 a.m. by a neighbor who saw smoke pouring from the building.

Origin of the blaze was against the living room wall near an over-stuffed chair, according to investigators.

The Youngs were taken to County General Hospital for observation and treatment.

Doll Flares Atop Lamp In San Bruno

An inflammable doll placed on top of a table lamp caught fire and caused an estimated $200 in damages to the Thomas Smith home at 3281 Susan Drive in San Bruno Sunday.

Firemen said the doll was apparently placed atop the lamp by one of the Smith children.

The blaze spread to nearby drapes and curtains, firemen said.

San Bruno fire department official said the doll was not the same make as those being sought across the country because of their highly inflammable construction.

Park and Rec Meeting on 25th

The City of San Bruno Park and Recreation Commission will hold its regular monthly meeting at 8 p.m. in San Bruno City Hall Council Chambers on Wednesday, January 25.

Dr. Kimball Is Named To A New Post

Dr. Merrit E. Kimball, physics teacher at Capuchino High School, has been named Associate Director of the Harvard Project Physics Summer Institute which will prepare 40 teachers to teach Harvard Project Physics in the school year 1967-68.

Dr. Kimball will be responsible for that part of the summer program which specially focuses on how to handle Project Physics materials in such a way as to transmit the point of view of the developers of this humanistically oriented physics course.

D.C. Teenager Seriously Hurt In Auto Crash

A Daly City teenager was seriously injured Sunday night when the driver of a car he was riding in swerved to avoid hitting a dog and crashed into a parked vehicle.

Dean G. Bravos, 17, of 720 Higate, was reported "as well as can be expected" at Mary's Help Hospital today after undergoing surgery for abdominal injuries.

The youth was injured about 11 p.m. Sunday when his friend, Kevin T. Milton, 17, of 98 Westmoor Avenue, Daly City, collided with a parked parked car belonged to Douglas H. Bossarat.

Cap Rallies To Win Over Burlingame

By GARRY NIVER
Post Sports Writer

Quantity, a premium commodity not often found on the open cage market, gained a very respected status at the Capuchino High School gym Friday night.

The Mustangs, taking advantage of the fact that they have 11 players worthy of starting roles, used the shuttle system, an underestimated formula in basketball economics, to battle to a 78-71 Mid-Peninsula League victory over tenacious Burlingame High.

The Cappers, with their backs to the wall and their unbeaten MPL record in jeopardy, had to rally late in the third stanza after the visitors had taken a 48-45 lead with 4:02 remaining.

But Coach Jimmy Johnson's juggling of fresh troops, all who hit with equal consistency, vaulted the "Tangs" to the lead and they rushed by startled Burlingame to gain their fourth MPL win in as many starts.

"The fact that we were able to use 11 men had a cremendous bearing on the final outcome," Johnson stated. "We are fortunate in that we have great bench strength," he added.

Capuchino's surge came just when Panther Coach Frank Betendorf had to yank stars Steve Connolly, Gary Seput and Barry Ongerth because of foul trouble. Capuchino, which had been lacking on the boards, quickly took advantage of the situation and drew out to a 19-point lead.

"I thought that Jim Kauffman drove exceptionally well tonight," Johnson stated. "Also, we stayed with the press and that, plus the foul trouble, got to them," he added. He also gave credit to Roger Carmine's rebounding in the second half.

It was Kauffman's driving shots which turned the game in the other direction. With 1:53 left in the third period, the fleet youngster dribbled his way through the entire Panther team for a brilliant lay-up, giving Cap a 54-53 lead. Seconds later he stole a pass and raced down the court for another cripple and the "Tangs" took complete control.

The hosts broke the contest wide open in the fourth quarter as Cap, behind the shooting of Kauffman, Carmine, Jim Hannon and Owen McCumber, tallied seven straight field goals with only two small charity toss returns from the Panthers to move out to a commanding 76-57 advantage.

The Panthers, with Seput and Connolly back in the lineup, rallied strongly but they couldn't overcome the large lead.

The first half was a corker all the way with the Panthers putting up a surprisingly strong battle. Burlingame, led by the grabs of Connolly, outrebounded the hosts, 18-7, and marched off the floor at half time trailing just 40-39.

And the same situation prevailed throughout most of the third quarter as the Panthers, sensing an upset in the making, battled to the lead several times.

But in the end it was the domination of the boards and Cap's very physical bench which wrote the conclusion to the Panther's hopes.

Kauffman led all scorers with 26 points, while Burlingame's Connolly tallied 23.

Cap's Matt Kriletich scored 19 points to lead the Cap Frosh-Soph to a very close 46-42 win over the Panther lights.

End To An Era?

Le Pacini

No, no, we're holding out—You still won't read anything here about the Super Bowl, except, perhaps, that it was super-silly-ous.

Now, we're sorry we said even that.

It suddenly occurred to us the other day that in possibly just two or three years the era of Russell-Chamberlain-Baylor will have ended and that the Alcindors and Barrys will make us forget all about them.

Ridculous, you say?

When's the last time you heard an "expert" discuss Hank Luceti in the same breath with any of the contemporary greats? Yet, Luceti revoutionized basketball scoring with his one-handed push shot.

There was a time when Luceti was the yardstick against which any promising newcomer was matched. But nowadays, aside from an occasional trophy presented at an annual banquet, Luceti is all but forgotten.

THE SAME may be said of George Mikan, basketball's first really great Big Man, the guy who took the "goon" out of the game. He once so dominated pro basketball and newspaper headlines that he WAS professional basketball.

But, now, he's hardly ever mentioned.

It can't happen, you say, to Russell, who, after-all, revolutionized pro basketball's thinking on defense; to Chamberlain the most fantastic scoring machine of all time; to Baylor, the perfect player

It will. You'll see them at old-timers' reunions and cheer them, but you won't really remember the way they were.

WHAT exasperates us about basketball is that it too often doesn't become the most exciting game in the world until the last quarter, or even the last few minutes. Yet the entire game must be played, from the dull first period on (sometimes through the dull second and third periods), to establish the foundation for the exciting finish.

It all gives us just one more reason to call baseball the greatest spectator sport ever invented. Each inning is like a new game, and because there's no time limit, the game is never over, as the man says, until the last out — not the last minute.

FLORIDA head football coach Ray Graves is in the very rare position of being about to lose a Heisman Trophy winner (Steve Spurrier) without, possibly, a stepdown in class next year.

Graves has possession of a left-handed quarterback named Jackie Eckdahl, who, in leading the freshman squad to a 4-0 record (and an average of 30.5 points a game) completed 76 of 127 passes (59.8 per cent) for a total of 825 yards and 10 tds.

He also ran for 176 yards and scored five touchdowns. All of which adds up to the fact that he accounted for better than 73 per cent of his team's total offense. He did even better in touchdowns, having a hand in 15 of the total of 18 that the team scored, a percentage of 83.

This has all been a sneaky way of getting into one of our pet peeves, it being freshman varsity ineligibility for most major universities and colleges.

There are reasons for the rule, most of which we've forgotten by now, but one of the major ones, we remember, was that somebody was afraid the poor little freshmen would be trampled under by the big boys.

Such reasoning may have had some merit in the days before vitamins and pediatricians (although freshmen usually WERE eligible in the days before vitamins and pediatricians), but the way they build freshmen nowadays, it's the upper classmen who should be protected.

SOME smaller schools, such as San Francisco State, have continued to allow freshmen eligibility for the varsity (mainly because of general manpower shortages), and have developed great Frosh stars.

And we can't ever remember a freshman anywhere being seriously injured just because he was too underdeveloped to withstand Big Boy roughhousing.

If a freshman has the ability, and if he can help his team, there's no reason why he shouldn't play varsity. Although a boy like Eckdahl wouldn't have played much with Spurrier around (according to scouting reports, however, he could have played almost anywhere else), can anyone seriously give us a reason why Lew Alcindor wouldn't have helped UCLA last year, or explain how he couuldn't have done it without injuring his body or his psyche?

And besides, they're sending freshmen to Viet Nam.

LOCAL NOTES Steve Sheppler, Terra Nova shop teacher and one of the leading exponents of soccer in the NPL, is well qualified to speak on the subject, having been an All-City goalie for San Francisco's Lincoln High in 1960, and an All-American for a last place San Francisco State College in '64.

Sheppler modestly claims, however, that it's easier to gain honors as a goalie for a losing team than for a winning team, because the goalie has so much of a chance to look good with the ball always being played on his end of the field.

Those Pacifica barbell kids did it again recently at the Sierra Nevada AAU Weightlifting Championships in Reno.

Joe Brown, 18, took all the honors in his 132-pound class, including breaking of the Northern California teen-age record when he pressed 165 pounds over his head.

Rich Notmeyer, 15, continued his muscle rampage in the 123-pound class, whipping everybody handily.

Both athletes attend Oceana.

There's a move afoot, down the Coast, to include surfing in the high school competing sports curriculum, which would assure either Terra Nova, Oceana or Half Moon Bay of dominating something for a change.

Pacifica's Bill Smith has recently been appointed head coach of the United States Olympic Wrestling Team for the 1968 Games in Mexico City.

TAG ENDS We've been saying it privately for weeks, but now that it's come out in other papers we guess it's safe to print it without fear of seeming a fool . . . The 49'ers should heed George Mira's plaints of "play me or trade me" by trading John Brodie, with whom they've never won and who commands enough of a salary for them to save ample cash to deal for other good flesh.

Rams Crush Underdog Wrestlers

The Westmoor wrestling team crushed underdog Half Moon Bay 42-11 last Friday.

The Rams won the first five matches. Backed up by three pins, they gained an early 21-0 lead.

Half Moon Bay, never a team to be overwhelmed, came back in the 133-pound bracket when Gene Lindsey decisioned Bob Abbott of Westmoor.

Half Moon Bay won their last match of the night as Rip Powell was forced to forfeit because of a back injury. Westmoor finished the meet with two more pins, to make a total of six pins.

The Rams face the South City Warriors this Friday in the Westmoor gym.

Bowling Now Offered At Jefferson Hi

The Jefferson High School District's first bowling program was inaugurated last week at Jefferson High School, where classes will be offered to seniors during regular school hours.

The bowling classes will be conducted at Serra Bowl in Colma each Friday, and the course will continue eight weeks.

Steve Mezzera, Mike Orlich and Don Rodrigo of the Jeff High physical education department, instituted the program, and classes will be taught by Dick Monroe of Serra Bowl.

Orlich said the program was started "to give physical education students a larger selection of activities."

"If the program is successful, it may be extended to the junior, sophomore and freshmen students," he said, "and a high school bowling league will possibly be formed in the future."

NPL Roundup

SSF, Westmoor Will Clash Today

If there is a doctor around the North Peninsula League area, someone send him to South San Francisco High School — the Warriors are hurtin'.

But even with the league's leading scorer, Ron Beall, out with a sore shoulder and a heavy cold, forward Alex Smith slowed down by the flu, and guard Ron Mazzoncini with as many ankle sprains as allotted, two, the Warriors still had enough to limp by Half Moon Bay Friday night, 88-48, setting the stage for an early season first-place battle with Westmoor today.

Both the Warriors and the Rams are now 3-0 in league play so if the Warriors expect to give a repeat performance of last season a little healing process might be in order.

Half Moon Bay started quickly and actually led the Warriors, 9-8, early in the game, but the Warriors' offense, the most potent in the league, caught fire quickly and it was all over before the half.

Smith tallied 19 points in a little over a half of play, while sophomore center Steve Venters came through with 20 more. The subs took over after intermission but the Cougars couldn't close the ever-widening gap even then.

"Beall has got to be ready by next Wednesday — that's all there is to it," said Purcell. "He hurt his shoulder attempting to throw a pass last week and it has gotten worse so we decided not to suit him up for this game."

Another NPL contest started out as a Jefferson romp but before it was over Oceana had reversed positions and squeezed out a 46-43 victory over the Indians, just about killing any title hopes for Mike Orlich's crew.

Oceana's entire offense, for 7:30 of the first eight minutes, consisted of a free throw by Tim Sershan. But Jefferson wasn't much hotter as the Indians managed only 10 to that time. Sershan added two field goals in the final 30 seconds of play but even then Shark hopes seemed dim.

Oceana played a deliberate game against the Jefferson zone defense and when the Sharks found they couldn't penetrate for the close shots, Sershan and Mike Burger started hitting long bombs from the outside and broke the Indians' back.

A steal and a lay-up with just 13 seconds left by forward Paul Mann was the winning field goal for the Sharks, who got the final two points on two free throws by Mike Burger.

Jeff's Jerry DeLay was high man for the game with 17, 11 coming in the first half. Burger topped the Sharks with 16.

Cap English Night Offers Play Scenes

Capuchino High School's annual English night will be held on January 26 at 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The program will consist of a series of scenes from numerous plays. Each year the Capuchino Drama Department presents various plays which, because of their content and production problems, cannot be shown in their entirety.

The time span of the plays ranges from pre-twentieth century to contemporary to avant garde. They are: "Homelife of a Buffalo," by Richard Harrity, starring Gail Terry, Lynda West, Louie Carlos, ron Valdez and Candy Shelton; "Time Out for Ginger," by Ronald Alexander, starring Doug Jacobs, Beverly Hensel, Louise Porteous and Diane Giannini; "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf," by Edward Albee, starring Debbie Henley and Jim Calvert; "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mother's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feeling So Sad," by Arthur Kopit, starring Ruth Milikin, Jim Davini and Teresa Domanigoni.

Also, "Dark at the Top of the Stairs," by William Inge, starring Linda Hawks and Barbra Bush; "Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams, starring Patti Clayton, Melissa Borders, Debbie Henley and Jerry Neary; "Raisin in the Sun," by Lorraine Hansberry, starring Pat Clayton and Marylin Vernon; and "Barefoot in Athens," (the Socrates Trial) by Maxwell Anderson, starring Jim Calvert, Mike Costanzo, Mark Matulich, Mitch Kiel and Rich Walters.

Admission to the plays will be by ticket only. Adults wishing tickets may call the Student Services office at Capuchino High School.

Bruno Hopes Annexation Will Succeed

San Bruno officials hope to annex approximately 80-acres of land between the Southern Pacific Railroad right-of-way and Bayshore Freeway.

Mayor Karney Barberian said the city has petitioned the City of San Francisco, owner of the site, for permission to annex.

The area is flooded during the rainy season, and the land presently "is going to no good use," Barberian said.

If the annexation can be accomplished, the city will seek to lease the property for construction of a nine-hole golf course.

The site, on the east side of Bayshore Freeway, is in a low-lying area, and extensive filling would be required to render it suitable for a golf course.

Conference Scheduled

The U.C. Agricultural Extension Service and Department of Landscape Horticulture, in cooperation with the Professional Gardeners Federation of Northern California are holding a Landscape Gardeners' Conference on Saturday, January 28 at Davis.

The Conference will be held in 101 Horticultural Auditorium from 9 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. Subjects will include: applying irrigation principles to the small landscape site, evaluating your turf management practices, instant turf — establishment and maintenance.

Everyone interested is invited.

Candy Mints

Louanne Heath

FRIDAY MORNING, when the winds finally brought the rains that ended the long winter dry spell, it is a sure bet that hundreds of people woke up, looked out and quickly decided the time had arrived to get a good book, sit down by the fire with a box of candy and do some catching up in the reading department!

Maybe you didn't think of the candy when you made your plans for the day but, the local council of Camp Fire Girls would like to remind you that a tasty box of mints add a lot of enjoyment to a day, rainy or otherwise. The reason for the emphasis on the sweets? The Camp Fire Girls annual sale of dollar boxes of chocolate covered mints begins next Wednesday.

Between February 1 and February 28 local Camp Fire Girls, Blue Birds, Junior High Camp Fire Girls and Horizon Club members will be emphasizing the slogan, one box for the table and one for the freezer. (Sounds like the girls are taking a page out of the Madison Avenue book of clever sales pitches.)

According to Mrs. Anthony Troia, publicity chairman, the girls only sell the mints once each year and, since they can be kept for long periods of time in a freezer, the Golden Gate Council is urging local residents to stock up with a supply for future enjoyment.

STAY-AT-HOMES can be sure of having a chance to buy some of the goodies for Camp Fire Girls, dressed in their red, white and blue service costumes will be making door to door calls. Special sales booths are also being arranged with stores and business firms and so shoppers may find special candy booths scattered about the community at different times during February, Mrs. Troia said.

Money from the traditional sale is used to help finance the Camp Fire Program in the Communities of Marin, San Francisco and San Mateo counties.

MR. AND Mrs. HAYNES FINCH of Westlake didn't have an opportunity to see their son, Robert's, prize winning Christmas decorations but they certainly reaped the rewards for his talented efforts.

The younger Finch, owner of the Value Giant store in Sonora, was awarded a television set for the Christmas decor in his establishment and he promptly presented it to his parents when they journeyed up the valley to spend New Years Eve babysitting with grandchildren Kathy, Mike and Billy.

MEMBERS OF THE ART GUILD of Pacifica's Executive Board will meet Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Carol Kirkpatrick for the regular, monthly planning session.

President Robert Southworth will be calling the meeting to order at 8 p.m.

Special doing Friday for the members of the Senior Adult group at the Brotherhood Way Jewish Community Center!

Plans for a previously scheduled lecture on Leonard Bernstein have been cancelled and the members will be going to the Geary Theater in San Francisco to see the dress rehearsal of Dear Liar being performed by the members of the American Contemporary Theater.

A BOX OF EXTRA SPECIAL goodies, including lots of pre-sweetened Kool-Aid, is being prepared for Pfc. Frank Manzanares a recent winner of the Purple Heart who is currently stationed in Vietnam.

Members of the Daly City Community Chorus are collecting the assortment of treats for Manzanares who is the brother of chorus member Mrs. Marlene Espinoza. He was wounded by a grenade on November 1 and received his decoration on November 19.

The chorus received a warm welcome Thursday evening as it presented a varied program for the members of the B'nai B'rith. Hugh de Francis, who had to take time off to help Santa Claus with his chores at Macy's, was back and in good voice for the evening and Peggy Benjamin, wife of baritone Frank Benjamin, made her debut.

Walter Jeeter, former member of the chorus, added his name to a list of soloists which included Sid Bronstein, John Hockett and Adela Zamora. Jeeter, a long time student of chorus accompanist Janet Holden, appeared as a guest with the chorus and sang "Days of Wine and Roses," "What Kind of Fool an I" and "I Believe."

PREPARING FOR A MOVE to Texas are Bob and Dixie Cook of Westlake. Mrs. Cook and daughter, Donna, 15, are booked aboard a flight to Fort Worth on February 15. They'll be met by the Cook's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Todd Godfrey and will stay with the Godfreys while they do some house hunting in Houston.

Mrs. Cook has resigned her job as nurse in the office of Dr. Harold Franklin after ten years in his employ. Cook will remain on in his present job until May when he will join his family in Texas.

Issues For Discussion Are Listed

National governmental issues which have become continuing responsibilities will be the topic February 1 and 2 for Provisional League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County units.

Continuing responsibilities are those issues to which the league has given previous study and has decided to give further sustained attention, a spokesman said.

Four items will be discussed and reviewed: Apportionment of state legislatures, loyalty-security programs, tax rates, and treaty-making.

A reference for these items is the league publication, "National Continuing Responsibilities 1966-68," available from the Provisional League's publication chairman, Mrs. Gerald Berman, 2760 Muirfield Circle, San Bruno.

The Daly City-Colma unit will meet February 1, at 7:45 p.m., at the home of Mrs. T. J. Van Zandt, 1005 Skyline, Daly City.

Demonstration of China Painting Tomorrow for Area YW-Wives

Mrs. Deane Le Baron, Thursday will demonstrate to the North San Mateo Unit of the YW-Wives the ancient art of china painting.

For more than 40 years, since the age of 10, and her first lesson with teacher Frances Miller, Mrs. Le Baron has worked with china pieces.

With many prominently-displayed oils and watercolors to her credit, Mrs. Le Baron still finds her most satisfying creations are china paintings. She is an expert at glass and multiple color firings and antique restoration, and is constantly experimenting with new and forgotten techniques.

To illustrate the work of past masters, Mrs. Le Baron will show some pieces from an extensive American antique collection, dating from 1886, when the first Flemish masters immigrated to the United States.

A membeer of the International Painting Teacher's Association, the Society of Western Arts, and The California China Painting Teacher's Association, and past master of many public demonstrations, Mrs. Le Baron seldom enters into competition, but rather uses her considerable skill, artistry and scholar's knowledge of china to help her students turn out fine work.

The YW-Eives meet weekly, at 10 a.m., in the Westlake Community Baptist Church, Southgate and Elmwood, Daly City. Inexpensive care for pre-schoolers is available during the meeting.

Review Planning By Friends Of D.C. Library

The Friends of the Daly City Library will review Mary Renault's most recent book "The Mask of Apollo," at 10 a.m., January 26.

The review will be given in the coral room of the library at 275 Southgate by popular localite, Mrs. John Jones.

Mrs. Jones, who received her master's degree from Brigham Young University, is president of the U.C. Medical Student Wives Group. Her husband is an intern at U.C. Hospital.

The Friends expect a sizeable attendance tomorrow because of the lively presentations by Mrs. Jones in the past. The speaker will be introduced by the Friends' president, Mrs. Lincoln Walter.

There will be no charge for this public event.

Fairmont Woman Tells of Meeting

The San Francisco Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Iota Business Sorority will meet February 7 at the home of Mrs. Joseph Cedeno, 2217 San Jose Avenue, San Francisco.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS
"Cavities"
There are millions of bacteria in your mouth. Some are quite harmful because they act on sugars and other carbohydrates to form acids. These acids dissolve the enamel of the teeth. That is the beginning of tooth decay.
Unless decay is stopped by a dentist, who removes the decayed portion of the tooth and puts in a filling, decay proceeds from the enamel into the dentin and then into the pulp. Once the pulp has been infected, it may be too late to save the tooth.
Have your dentist check your teeth and take care of any cavities that may be present.
Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

CELEBRATE Chinese New Year, February 9 with a tangy and quick meal, Oriental Beef and Rice. Besides helping you celebrate the Chinese Year of the Ram, this delicious entree will be a treat you'll want to serve often during the New Year.

An Oriental Beef And Rice for 4665

Thursday, February 9, is the ideal night to serve an Oriental dinner! Why? Because this day starts the Chinese New Year, the Year of the Ram in the year 4665. The resolutions that you made on Jan. 1 and have already broken can be re-pledged or . . . try a new set.

As long as you're trying new things, serve this Oriental Beef and Rice main dish. The delectable entree is marinated in a spicy sauce for about an hour. However, your cooking time is only two minutes. It's a handy dish to keep in mind when you don't know what time your family will arrive home.

Home economists who developed and tested this recipe, recommend serving Oriental Beef with steaming hot white rice. Or, just open and heat a can of Fried Rice. To complete your meal, serve green peas, tea and almond cookies for dessert.

ORIENTAL BEEF AND RICE
(Serves 4)

½ cup soy sauce
3 teaspoons sugar
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
2 teaspoons ground ginger
1½ pounds beef, cut into ¾" cubes
Toasted sesame seeds or finely chopped peanuts

Blend first 5 ingredients together. Pour over beef cubes and marinate at least 1 hour.

Heat 2 teaspoons peanut oil and add drained meat. Cook 2 to 5 minutes, or until done to taste, stirring constantly. Sprinkle with sesame seeds or finely chopped peanuts. Serve with bed of cooked or fried rice.

IT'S THE TIME of the year when hot, hearty eating is a must! Provide it with this easy-to-make oven dish of flavorful canned pork and beans with tomato sauce teamed with spicy glazed spareribs.

Glazed Spareribs And Canned Beans

Look at the good eating that you can put into one dish — spicy glazed spareribs, flavorful pork and beans with tomato sauce, and the "surprise" of tart-sweet apple slices. Sound appetizing . . . complete . . . easy? This dish is all three, plus it's economical too!

After simmering the spareribs, arrange them on the lucious pork and beans (they're newly improved — even better tasing) and apple mixture. Then spread the ribs with a zesty glaze and place the dish in the oven for 30 minutes. You can't top that kind of eating on a blustery winter day!

Reach for canned pork and beans with tomato sauce often. These newly improved — tender beans in plenty of rich, rosy tomato sauce are ready to provide a robust beginning for the hot 'n hearty main dishes that fit perfectly into winter's ice-framed picture.

GLAZED SPARERIBS WITH BEANS

3 pounds spareribs, cut in serving size pieces
2 cans (1 pound each) pork and beans with tomato sauce
½ cup thinly sliced apple
1 teaspoon cider vinegar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1-3 cup ketchup
2 tablespoons molasses

Simmer spareribs in boiling water for 1½ hours; drain. In shallow baking dish (12x8x22-inches), combine beans and apple; arrange spareribs on top. Blend vinegar and mustard until smooth; stir in ketchup and molasses. Spread over spareribs. Bake at 350 degree F. for 30 minutes. 4 servings.

Creamed Chip Beef Is Special

The main dish favorite, creamed chipped beef, takes on a new look and flavor accent with lightly sauteed strips of crisp green pepper. New, too, is the way of preparation—a quick and easy one-pot method of creaming. The sauce phase of this dish has double-rich evaporated milk for assured smoothness and creaminess. Its low cost makes this thrifty chipped beef special even more budget-minded.

Ladled over a baked potato hot from the oven, this special version of creamed chipped beef is a great dish for the main meal of the day. For brunch, lunch or a late supper, spoon the savory mixture over hot toast (or frozen waffles popped into the toaster) for service-ease.

Creamed Chipped Beef Special

¼ cup butter
1 small onion, chopped
1 pkg. (3½ oz.) smoked sliced beef
¼ cup green pepper strips
1 pimiento, coarsely chopped
3 tablespoons flour
1 tall can evaporated milk (1⅔ cups)
⅓ cup water

Melt butter in a large skillet over low heat. Add onion and cook until tender but not brown. Pull beef slices into pieces; add to onion along with green pepper and pimiento. Cook 2 to 3 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat. Sprinkle in flour a little at a time, blending smoothly. Gradually stir in evaporated milk, then water. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until thickened, about 10 minutes. Serve hot over baked potatoes. Makes 4 servings.

WHEAT GERM BREAD — So nutritious, and made by the refrigerator-rising method.

Wheat Germ Bread Rises If Chilled

A new and convenient way of making bread keeps right on interesting cooks.

Introduced last year and called the coolrise method, this technique allows yeast bread to rise in the refrigerator. After 2 to 24 hours, the loaves are ready to bake and they come out of the oven with excellent flavor, texture and shape.

Because many cooks like to use wheat germ — so full of vitamins and minerals that are so good for you — in family meals, we decided it would be fun to add wheat germ to a refrigerator-rising loaf. So here is the recipe. It turns out dandy bread.

WHEAT GERM BREAD

2 packages active dry yeast
½ cup warm water
1¾ cups milk, scalded and cooled to lukewarm
1-3 cup honey
1 tablespoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine, soft
5 to 6 cups unsifted regular flour
1 cup regular (unsweetened) wheat germ
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind

In a large warm bowl dissolve the yeast in the warm water. Add warm milk, honey, salt, butter and 2 cups of the flour. Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer at low speed until smooth — about 1 minute. Add 1 cup more flour. Beat vigorously with wooden spoon (150 strokes) or electric mixer at medium speed (2 to 3 minutes) until thick and elastic; occasionally scrape sides of bowl. With a wooden spoon stir in wheat germ and lemon rind. Then gradually work in the remaining flour; use just enough flour to make a soft dough that leaves sides of bowl, adding more if necessary. Turn out onto floured board; round up into a ball. Knead 5 to 10 minutes or until dough is smooth, elastic and no longer sticky. Cover with plastic wrap, then a towel. Let rest for 20 minutes on board. Punch down. Divide into 2 equal portions. Roll each portion into an 8 by 12-inch rectangle. Tightly roll up into loaves beginning with 8-inch edge. Seal final seam and edges well. Place in 2 greased 8½ by 4½ by 2⅝ inch loaf pans. Brush surface of dough with salad oil. Cover pans loosely with oiled wax paper, then pastic wrap; do not tuck ends under. Refrigerate 2 to 24 hours at moderately cold setting. When ready to bake, remove from refrigerator. Uncover. Let stand for 10 minutes while preheating the oven. Just before baking puncture any surface bubbles with an oiled toothpick. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Use a lower oven rack position for best results. If the bread seems to be getting too brown, place a piece of foil loosely over the crust. Remove immediately to wire racks to cool.

Time to Prune Ornamentals

By IVA NEWMAN

Paul F. Frese, editor of a National Garden Magazine, once wrote that "Almost no ornamental planting of woody plants can go long without pruning if it is to serve its intended purpose in the landscape." I have yet to find a plant that can go more than four or five years without a few snips here and there. And, regardless of how small the piece removed or whether it is done with the shears or the finger nails it is pruning.

As gardens get smaller pruning becomes more important as plants must be trained to stay within an allotted space. Espaliers are gaining in popularity and the training of vines and shrubs on wires and frames to form designs gives the gardener a sense of creativity. Then, too, the increased interest in bonsai has taught gardeners and home owners to see beauty in the exposed trunk and branches of shrubs and trees so cluttering fine branches are pruned away to reveal the structural quality of plants, th. ; making pruning an art.

Experienced gardeners believe the greatest error in pruning is delaying too long in controlling the form of young plants. Beginners should endeavor to learn the rules for pruning the various plants under their care. Several books have been written on pruning, one of the best for our area is Sunset's Pruning Handbook, written by Roy L. Hudson, assistant curator of Golden Gate Park, as it covers most of the plants commonly grown in this part of California. Read the directions, study the plant to be pruned and prune moderately until you learn just how the plant will respond. It is almost always better to prune moderately than not at all.

Good pruning tools are essential to a good pruning job. Most beginners can get along with just three essential tools: a pair of good, medium weight, hand pruning shears; a pair of sharp, long-handled loppers, and a curved blade pruning saw. The first lesson to be learned is never force the hand pruners to do a job that calls for loppers nor use loppers where a saw is needed. The second rule is that all pruning instruments must be kept sharp and clean if a smooth, damage-free job is to be done. A third rule could be, know the best time each shrub, vine or tree should be pruned.

Flowering cherry trees are a touchy pruning problem and many gardeners say never prune them. There are times when some pruning must be done. However, only corrective pruning is done and that is done in midsummer after the new growth has slowed down. Always cut each branch back to a lateral as stubs esldom break into new growth.

Cut Peaches Hard

Flowering peaches, on the other hand needs to be cut back hard each year after flowering is completed. The best blossoms are born on one-year-old wood so branches that have flowered should be cut back leaving a good stub. The best time to do this pruning is when the peach is at the height of its bloom and the blossoms can be used for indoor decoration or immediately the blossoms fade. Be sure to paint the cut stubs with a good tree paint.

The hydrangea leads the list of deciduous garden shrubs that should be pruned now as the buds are swollen almost to finger size. We cut the outside branches low leaving only four to five buds and the center progressively higher so as to have a rounded, symmetrical shrub. On the evergreen hydrangeas the flowering branches are cut as soon as the blooms fade. The cut is made just above an unflowered lateral or strong bud. This keeps the plant producing almost continuously. The "Peegee" hydrangea goes completely dormant in our garden so we cut the flowering branches back to two, three or four eyes. As we like big flowers we prune out some of the oldest wood but not enough to break the rounded form.

Prune Dormant Fruit Trees

Many home owners are finding great pleasure in having one or two of the dwarf fruit trees in their gardens. Most fruit-bearing trees are pruned while they are dormant. The most popular of home garden trees is the apple. These trees should be pruned now. Keep in mind that apples need plenty of light in order to ripen properly so keep the center of the trees open. The thing to get to recognize at a glance is the short fruit spurs that form on the branches that are two years or more old. These spurs produce good fruit for several years if they are protected.

Home and Garden

Explanation Of Pruning Is Scheduled

A special workshop will be the first featured program of the San Mateo County Garden Center for the January general meeting, Monday, January 30 at 8 at the San Mateo County Garden Center, in the Hall of Flowers on the San Mateo County Fairgrounds according to Mrs. George A. Panaretos, newly elected president.

It is the time of year for pruning fuchsias and roses and members of the Fuchsia societies and rose societies on the Peninsula have been invited to serve as teachers and guides in helping the gardeners who attend with their potted fuchsias and roses.

John Whittington, first vice president from Woodside who is chairman of the program, has planned to have facilities available so that members of the community can bring their plants in containers and learn how to prune and plant fuchsia plants properly.

The meetings of the Garden Center are open to the public without charge and are held as a service to anyone interested

Election Held By Horticulture Unit

College of San Mateo's Horticultural Seminar held it's annual installation dinner at Johnny Kan's Hyatt House with Emile Labadie Jr., acting as master of ceremonies. Labadie, a former instructor of Horticulture at CSM is now instructor of Horticulture at Merrit College, Oakland.

Speaker of the evening was Alex Graham, the new Head of the Horticultural Department at CSM. George Mangis, instigator of horticultural classes at CSM served as installation officer and installed Sweete T. Chan, president; Russ Tsutsui, vice president; Dennis McKiernan, secretary; Stanley Freeman, treasurer, and Mas Ikoma, auditor.

Arrangements for the installation dinner were handled by Laka Keije and Sweete Chan. The CSM Horticultural Seminar consists of graduate students of CSM's horticultural classes.

Club to Hear About Begonias

The Men's Garden Club of San Mateo County will meet for dinner at Bob's on Broadway at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, January 26 for their first 1967 regular meeting.

Guest speaker will be member Donald Thomas, 442 Hillcrest Road, San Mateo. Thomas will give an illustrated talk on Rex, fibrous and rhizomatous begonias, a long time hobby. He will explain the propagation of these succulent-stemmed perennials that are grown more for their magnificently colored leaves than for their flowers.

President Richard F. Morse announced that plans for the Club's annual ladies' Night will be held Thursday, February 23, at the Elks' Club on 20th Avenue, San Mateo. He also announced the 1967 program committee would be John Chiapelone, chairman, Donald Thomas, George Keyston and Mansfield Garratt Sr.

Coconut Pear Pie for Party

Layer 4 cups sliced fresh winter pears with 1 cup flaked coconut in pastry shell. Drizzle pears with 1 tablespoon lemon juice and sprinkle with mixture of ¼ cup flour and ½ cup brown sugar. Dot with butter and cover with criss-cross pastry top. Bake at 425 degrees for 45 minutes.

Poor Nutrition May Harm Child's Later Learning

Poor nutrition during the first few years of life probably has an adverse effect on a child's later learning and behavior, the Nutrition Foundation re. .ts.

It is well established that retardation of human physical growth occurs as a result of malnutrition. But only recently has evidence accumulated to suggest that mental development is at risk as well in severe malnutrition.

The Nutrition Foundation, financed by leading companies in the food and allied industries, recently set as one of its major goals the support of scientific studies — the relation between malnutrition and learning and behavior in children.

Studies with laboratory animals have clearly shown that malnutrition which stunts growth reduces learning ability, memory and behavior. It seems likely that children who suffer malnutrition are similarly afflicted. But scientific evidence to establish this point has not been accumulated.

At a recent meeting of the Trustees of the Nutrition Foundation, a research program which will spur studies on the relation between poor nutrition and learning and behavior in children was approved.

The Foundation for some time has supported studies investigating the possibility that poor nutrition impairs subsequent mental development in humans. The evidence is not all in yet, but studies already finished make it seem likely that children's ability to learn is adversely affected by malnutrition just as are the abilities of laboratory animals.

The problem is particularly important to technically underdeveloped countries of the world where there is not enough food — particularly, high-quantity protein food — for everyone. In these countries, children more often suffer from poor nutrition than do adults.

If children in these areas are crippled in mind because of poor nutrition in the early months of life, efforts to improve conditions — investments in schools and teachers, for example — are lessened in value. And the future of the world is threatened if future generations are being damaged in mind and body by malnutrition, the Nutrition Foundation holds.

A host of infections plague children in underdeveloped areas. These occur along with malnutrition. Infections and poor nutrition may work together to impair mental as well as physical growth. So well-planned studies are essential in assessing the part played by malnutrition in the development of children.

The Nutrition Foundation and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology will hold an international scientific conference on "Malnutrition, Learning and Behavior" in March, 1967. Some of the world's leading educators, psychologists and nutritionists are expected to attend.

Party Pear Pops a Hit

For 6 pops melt 1 pound chocolate caramels with 2 tablespoons water in double boiler. Add a dash of salt. Insert wooden sticks in stem ends of pears. Twirl pears in caramels until well coated. Roll bottom half in chopped nuts. Set on buttered plate and chill.

Pearwiches Anybody...?

Almost everybody likes raw pears for out-of-hand eating. Why not try pears in "pearwiches," a new sandwich sensation. Spread bread with soft sharp cheese and top with slices of juicy winter pears. Pears are also good with peanut butter and mayonnaise; or pear slices with ham, chicken or turkey, ground and mixed with mayonnaise.

A Message To Our Customers

AT MAYFAIR WE GUARANTEE YOU CONSTANT QUALITY AND VALUE!

Quality Mayfair sells only the finest of USDA CHOICE beef, individually selected by our own trained meat buyer. Government graded CHOICE beef is your guarantee of quality. If you aren't completely satisfied DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK at Mayfair!

Value So-called "discount stores" attempt "to draw you in" by misleading prices. These stores sort and upgrade (and up price) T-bone from Porterhouse Steaks, Chuck from 7-bone Roasts, Pin-bone Sirloin from first cut Sirloin Steaks, and sort Round Steak and Standing Rib Roasts.

At Mayfair you get a better value. We sell T-bone and Porterhouse at one price. We do NOT cut Pin-bone Sirloin Steaks, as they are not a good value. Sirloin Steaks are all first cuts at Mayfair. We sell all Round Steaks at one low price, and you may buy any part of the small end of a Rib Roast at one price. You'll find the highest quality and greatest values at Mayfair.

February Holidays Ahead– An Elegant Log Roll Will Be in Keeping

All the February holidays — Lincoln's Birthday, St. Valentine's Day and Washington's Birthday — offer opportunities for lots of coffee parties with your favorite friends. For just such an occasion, we recommend this scrumptious Coffee Ice Cream Log Roll accompanied by bracing cups of coffee.

The Log Roll makes an elegant appearance, though it isn't as difficult to prepare as you might suspect. The light, spongy cake is easy to make; it is only the process of rolling and filling that requires care. But once you've spread the cake with the softened ice cream and put it in the freezer, your worries are over. All that's left is the easy Coffee Frosting which takes but a few minutes to whip up and spread.

Decorating the Log Roll is lots of fun, so take your time and get a pleasing, artistic effect. One of the unusual features of this rich, refrigerator dessert is that the frosting and ice cream look alike and have the same light, coffee color. It's a surprise for guests to find out they each have their own distinctive texture and individual taste.

Brew to Capacity

Hot, fragrant coffee is a wonderful contrast to a forsty ice cream dessert. It will be especially good if it's made with newly bought ground coffee and a carefully washed coffee maker. Since coffee-makers work best at capacity, the more near to capacity you brew the better the coffee will be.

To guarantee an empty coffeepot at the end of every party, take this bit of brewing advice: Use one approved coffee measure (equal to two level measuring tablespoons) of coffee to each six ounces of water, per serving. When the seconds and thirds are requested, you'll be glad you brewed to capacity!

COFFEE ICE CREAM LOG ROLL

½ teaspoon salt
4 eggs
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup pancake mix
1 quart coffee ice cream

Coffee frosting

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Grease bottom and sides of 10 x 15-inch jellyroll pan. Line with wax paper. Grease again thoroughly. Add salt to eggs. Beat until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar to eggs, a little at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla and pancake mix. Stir until smooth. Spread evenly in greased wax paper-lined pan. Bake 10 to 12 minutes. While cake roll is baking, sprinkle a dry towel well with confectioners' sugar. As soon as cake is done, loosen edges and turn out on towel. Peel wax paper carefully from cake. Roll cake in towel. Let stand 20 minutes, then unroll. Soften ice cream slightly and spread over cake roll. Roll up quickly. Wrap in aluminum foil. Place in freezer several hours. (May be made several days in advance). Just before serving, spread with Coffee Frosting. Serve immediately or return to freezer until time to serve. Makes 8 servings.

COFFEE FROSTING

Cream 1-3 cup butter or margarine. Add 1½ cups confectioners' sugar while continuing to cream. Add 2 tablespoons strong, cold coffee. Add another 1½ cups confectioners' sugar and enough strong, cold coffee to make frosting fluffy and easy to spread on cake.

Fish Chowder From the Can

A tureen of hot fish chowder looks mighty inviting on a winter supper table: In saucepan, cook ¼ cup thinly sliced celery in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine until tender. Add 1 can (10¼ ounces) frozen condensed clam chowder (New England style), ½ soup can milk, and ½ soup can water. Heat; stir now and then. Do not boil. Add 1 cup flaked cooked whitefish, ½ cup cooked whole kernel corn, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire; heat. Makes 2 to 3 servings. Nice with crunchy oyster crackers.

Fourth Bayshore Lane Being Built

Widening of Bayshore Freeway between San Bruno and Third Street in San Francisco should get started late this year, according to Alan S. Hart, district engineer of the State Division of Highways.

Hart told the San Mateo County Greater Highways Committee that the $3,500,000 project would provide a fourth lane for both north and southbound traffic.

The freeway is a six-lane route for its entire length in San Mateo County except in the stretch between Nineteenth Avenue in San Mateo and San Bruno Avenue, which has eight lanes.

Other than continued work on Junipero Serra Freeway, Hart said, the Bayshore job will be the major project in San Mateo County this year.

It is hoped, he said, that some work can be done on improvement of El Camino Real in the South San Francisco area this year.

Other projects scheduled for the next few years, Hart told the committee, include improvement of Woodside Road in Redwood City, construction of San Bruno Freeway and reconstruction of the Nineteenth Avenue interchange structure on Bayshore Freeway in San Mateo. The latter project, he said, is scheduled for about 1972.

The first work on San Bruno Freeway, from Junipero Serra Freeway to the extension of Cherry Street, should be started next year, Hart said. The remainder of the work would extend to about 1972.

Thieves Twist Doorknob Off

A watch, necklace, and $300 in cash were stolen from a Coronado Street residence in Daly City Thursday while the occupants were away, police said today.

Officers said Wayne Douglas Furr reported the theft Thursday afternoon. Entrance was gained through twisting off the front door knob with a wrench.

Thursday night, Walt's Tire Service on Mission Road was burglarized. Police said $50 was taken from the cash register at the business.

Junior Horse Show Staged At Cow Palace

Premium books are being prepared for the 21st annual Grand National Junior Horse Show to be staged Saturday and Sunday, March 18 and 19, at the Cow Palace in Daly City.

The books providing full information about the Horse Show will be mailed out to all junior exhibitors, it was announced by Howard N. Gilmore, member of the Board of Directors of the Cow Palace, and Chairman of its Horse Show Committee.

Billed as the most competitive Junior Show in the country, and the only indoor Junior Show west of the Mississippi, this year's colorful show is being enlarged to include six added classes, according to Gilmore.

He explained there will be three new classes in the western pleasure horse division and three new classes in the hunter type English pleasure horse division.

One of the unique features of the show includes the working of cattle by entrants in the stock horse division. This is probably the only Junior Show in the West in which cattle are worked in the stock horse division, declared Gilmore.

The beginning of Lent annually is determined by the date of Easter which this year falls on March 26.

S.S.F. Library Has Art Display

Currently on display at the South San Francisco Public Library, Grand Avenue building, are oil paintings from three members of the Peninsula Art Association.

Ida Faye Ludwig, who has been painting for more than 25 years, has two abstracts on display. Both contain vivid yellows, blues, and greens.

Brightly colored abstracts by Dorothy C. Rogers are also shown. Mrs. Rogers holds a degree in art at San Francisco State College and has also done graduate work there. She worked with Alexander Nepote.

Exhibiting for the first time is Corneill Shepherd who received the title of master craftsman from her native state of Ohio. Mrs. Shepherd has studied under Fred Robles at the College of San Mateo. Those paintings shown at the Grand Avenue Library are representations of such scenes as Portofino, Oak Creek Canyon and other familiar sights of Colorado, Arizona, and New Mexico.

Many of the paintings exhibited by the three artists are for sale.

County-wide Alert Test January 27

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald, San Mateo Operational Area Civil Defnse Coordinator, has announced that a countywide test of Civil Defense outdoor warning devices is scheduled for 11 a.m. Friday, January 27.

Fitzgerald indicated that these tests are conducted quarterly to check out the equipment mechanically, to evaluate the area of coverage, and to familiarize the population with signals and their meaning, Santa Clara County is expected to exercise warning devices simultaneously.

The test will consist of a one-minute steady alert blast, one minute of silence and one minute of rising and falling wail or series of short blasts—the take cover signal.

The steady alert blast in a real disaster situation would last from three to five minutes and would mean—warning. Correct response would be to turn radio on to apprise yourself of the situation and to receive instructions as to most reasonable action to take. It will not necessarily, in the future, be an atomic warfare alert signal.

The wailing, take-cover signal will continue to mean that serious danger of atomic attack exists and in a real situation it would also last for from three to five minutes. Response would be to proceed to nearest shelter or protected place to increase chances of survival. Radios, preferably portable, should also be used to keep informed of the situation.

Supervisor Fitzgerald stated that no action by the general public is desired during tests.

Odor-Control Submission Wins

Robert V. Bernicchi, engineer-manager, North San Mateo County Sanitation District, Daly City, has received second honorable mention for his article "What price odor control?" a description of how an anti-odorant solved an odor problem at a wastes treatment plant near a residential area, from the editorial advisory board of Water and Wastes Engineering, a Donnelley magazine.

Pickets Give Up U.S.S. Johnson

Two ironworkers laid off the USS Johnson salvage project in a labor dispute two weeks ago apparently have abandoned their two-man picket line at the job site.

Ed Unger and Daniel Beets, dismissed from the job when five members of Boilermakers' Local 6 were hired January 6, gave up their vigil at the Mori's Point Road access point this week in Pacifica "in order to look for another job," said R. F. Fenton, Ironworkers' Local 377 business agent.

The ironworkers' local has filed an unfair labor practices suit with the National Labor Relations Board over the firings.

Fenton said the salvage firm, National Metals Company, "had no right to fire our men in that manner."

He said the N.L.R.B. has issued no decision in the matter.

Meanwhile, work is progressing on the salvage project, and the gun turrets have been dismantled and hauled to the salvage yard.

A National Metals Company spokesman said the last of the ship's superstructure is expected to be removed today.

The tentative time schedule on the project calls for approximately two more months' work, the company spokesman said, "but the actual completion date depends heavily upon the weather and tides.

NASA Picks Cap Senior For Testing

Capuchino High School has received word from the director of the University of California's Science Research Center that Sheldon Kazar, a senior at Cap, has been accepted as a participant this summer in the university's Space Biology Laboratory Program.

Sheldon, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Kazar, 465 Cedar Street, San Bruno, is an honor student at Cap, and an exceptional student in the field of math and science.

The program is connected with NASA — the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's project of developing a high school syllabus dealing with the problems of space travel. Before the syllabus is released to the high schools for use, the laboratory part needs further testing.

Sugar 'n Spice

Dinner Menu

Nell Norton

How often have you uttered this plaintive cry, "I don't mind cooking, if I could just think of something new for dinner?" It's just this wail that keeps recipe columnists in the business and always on the lookout for new recipes.

Since dinner is the meal the requires most variety, after all it comes around once each day, and is the main meal, let's concentrate on dinner menu's.

First the meat; this part of the meal is usually dictated by the state of the exchequer. On the day after payday, the sky is he limit. But on the day before payday, "it's about that ground meat." Or, as the old saying goes, "Chicken on Sunday and feathers the rest of the week."

Most of us have no problem once we've bought that Sunday roast, adding the potatoes and vegetables to complete the meal. Here are some menu's and ideas for the rest of the week, using less familiar and less expensive cuts of meat.

All these recipes will serve 4.

LAMB STEW WITH MASHED POTATOES

2 lbs. lamb breast, flank or neck
6 carrots
6 onions
6 potatoes

Cut the two pounds of lamb into 1½-inch cubes. Dredge with flour and brown well on all sides in hot oil or other fat. Season with salt and pepper. Add one cup water and simmer for 1½ hours.

Add the 6 carrots and 6 onions, which have been cut in half. Add one teaspoon salt. Cover and continue cooking till vegetables are done, about ½ hour.

Place stew in casserole. Top stew with mashed potatoes. Brown potatoes under broiler.

Serve with a tossed green salad and the dessert that catches your fancy. Whether it's "fancy" boughten cookies or a "fancy" home made cake.

VEAL chops don't come under the inexpensive heading, but they do come under the delicious eating heading, and cooked in the manner described in the next recipe make a delicious meal.

SAVORY VEAL CHOPS

4 veal chops
¾ cup fine white bread crumbs
1 tbsp. dry mustard
2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
Dash of pepper
1 beaten egg

Wipe the four chops with a damp cloth. Combine the ¾ cup bread crumbs with the 1 tablespoon dry mustard, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning and dash of pepper.

Dip the chops in flour, then in the beaten egg, diluted with 2 tablespoons water. Roll in bread crumb mixture; brown well on both sides in hot oil or other fat. (If heavy frying pan is used, cover chops without adding liquid; cook slowly over a low burner until tender, about 45 minutes. Or add ¼ cup water before covering.)

Serve with mashed potatoes; green peas, apple, celery and nut salad and dessert.

I'VE mentioned dessert with each meal and now I'll include a new recipe for a cake I just tried and want you good cooks to enjoy. It was a winner in the last Bake-Off and is delicious, and makes a wonderful dessert.

Another nice point, it's a never-fail. And I proved it the hard way. I was mixing it while I talked on the phone (I don't recommend this method of cake preparation) and in the process had it mixed and in the oven, when I noticed that I hadn't added the oil. "EEK!" I grabbed it out of the oven, stirred in the oil, said a quick prayer and put it back in the oven. It came out perfect.

What really saved me was my habit of arranging all the ingredients on the table before I start to mix. It's a mighty good habit to have and keeps you from leaving out that necessary item, such as the oil in this cake. When I turned from putting the cake in the oven and started putting the ingredients away, I saw the oil and realize that I hadn't added it.

PLUM FUN CAKE

1½ cups flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup cold water
½ cup chopped walnuts
1-3 cup seedless raisins
1-3 cup oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
1 jar strained plums, baby food, 4¾ oz. (reserve 1 tablespoon for icing)

In a 9-inch square pan, combine the 1½ cups flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt. Next add the ½ cup water; ½ cup chopped walnuts, one-third cup raisins, 1-3 cup oil, 1 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 1 egg and the jar of strained plums. (Be sure to reserve 1 tablespoon of the plums for the icing.)

Stir vigorously with a rubber scraper for 1 minute. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until cake springs back when lightly touched in the center. Cool; frost.

ICING

1 tablespoon strained plums
2 cups confectioners sugar
¼ cup soft butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
Dash of salt

Combine the 1 tablespoon plums, 2 cups confectioners sugar, ¼ cup soft butter, ½ teaspoon vanilla and salt. Beat until of spreading consistancy. If necessary, thin with a few drops of water.

Purity SERVING CALIFORNIA SINCE 1925

466 SAN MATEO AVE., SAN BRUNO — 508 LINDEN AVE., SO. SAN FRANCISCO — 560 LINDA MAR BLVD., PACIFICA

Here's a meal-in-one skillet dish that's as easy to prepare as it's appetite appealing. The colorful combination of ground beef, vegetables, and robust golden mushroom soup is oh-so-gentle to the pocketbook, too.

Wintry Skillet Of Beef

When you first turned over your spanking new calendar, did you firmly resolve to be a bit more imaginative in the planning of your family's meals this new year? But now that the onslaught of late-winter activities is taking so much of your precious time and energy, are you finding it difficult to keep that "try a new recipe a week" resolution?

Get out of that quandary by scouting new, easy-do recipes that offer foods you know your family like but served up in appealing new ways. You'll find such recipes take no more time than your old stand-bys but will definitely give a "New Year look" to dinner.

Here's such a recipe. It features the ever-familiar, ever-popular meatball all fancied up with lima beans, butternut squash, and tomatoes in a sparky skillet dish.

Cook this colorful melange of meat and vegetables in a robust sauce made from a can of condensed golden mushroom soup. This soup with its rich beef stock and wine base boasts luxurious slices of whole young mushrooms. Golden mushroom soup spruces up any ground beef dish — whether you use it to sauce patties and meat loaf or as a cooking ingredient in skillet and casserole dishes.

Whenever you're pressed for time (and even when you're not), let canned condensed soups take over your sauce prepartions. Double rich for cooking cream soups — and golden mushroom, tomato, and Cheddar cheese soup, too — give you deliciously flavored, velvety-smooth sauces with just a few minutes heating.

To go along with zesty Wintry Beef Skillet, serve cornsticks and coleslaw. Bake some apples along with the cornsticks to serve with heavy "pour" cream for dessert.

WINTRY BEEF SKILLET

- 1 pound ground beef
- ½ cup small bread cubes
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon savory
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed golden mushroom soup
- 1-3 cup water
- 1-3 cup chopped canned tomatoes
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen lima beans
- 1 cup thinly sliced butternut squash (about 3 inches long)

Combine beef, bread, egg, onion, salt, ⅛ teaspoon savory; shape into 16 meatballs. Brown in shortening in skillet; pour off fat. Stir in soup, water, tomatoes, lima beans, squash, and remaining savory. Cover; cook over low heat 30 minutes. Stir now and then. Makes 4 servings.

Try Winning Combination

Chicken Vegetable Mugs and Bacon Cracker Snacks are a winning combination: In saucepan, cook 2 tablespoons sliced green onion with dash crushed oregano in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine until tender. Add 1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed chicken vegetable soup and 1 soup can water. Heat; stir now and then. Meanwhile, spread 9 oblong buttery crackers with 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese with chives (softened). Sprinkle with 3 slices bacon (cooked and crumbled). Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Tasty Knife, Fork Salad

A tasty knife-and-fork salad combines finely chopped California walnuts with minced cooked ham, tongue or corned beef and bottled sandwich spread.

Thin slightly with half and half cream or dairy sour cream-spoon over wedges of crisp western iceberg lettuce.

PRODUCTION

U.S. milk production for October 1966 is only slightly below October 1965, but is more than 200 million pounds below the 1960-64 average for October.

Plantation Ham And Apple Square

Just as traditional in many a home as the New Year's Ham; but perhaps "inevitable" is the best word to describe what followed this feast ... left-over ham!

Even if you didn't have the black-eyed peas, you'll have good luck with today's "Plantation Ham and Apple Square."

It deliciously combined the remains of the New Year's Ham—or any ham—with those convenient canned pie-sliced apples which you may have used only for pies up till now.

The flavorful canned pie-sliced apples enrich both a succulent seasoned ground ham square and a spicy apple-raisin sauce which accompanies it. Only a vegetable need be added to make this a hearty and satisfying meal.

This thrifty gourmet treat is especially tempting served planked, piped with mashed potatoes (you can use left-overs here, too). and topped with some of the apple slices used in its preparation—ideal for this kind of garnish because the canned pie-sliced apples are not subject to the quick drying out or discoloration of fresh fruit.

PLANTATION HAM AND APPLE SQUARE

- 1 lb. 4 oz. can pie-sliced apples
- 6 cups (2 lbs.) ground cooked ham (lean)
- ½ cup dry bread crumbs
- 2 tbsp. prepared mustard
- 1 tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. pepper
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- ½ cup milk
- 2 cups mashed potatoes, hot
- 2 tbsp. melted butter

SAUCE

- ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 tbsp. cornstarch
- ½ tsp. salt
- 2 tsp. prepared mustard
- ¼ cup raisins
- 1½ tbsp. vinegar

Drain canned pie-sliced apples, reserving liquid. Dice half of apples. Mix lightly ground ham, bread crumbs, mustard, salt, pepper, egg and milk until well blended. Fold in diced apples. Press into 8-inch square pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 Degrees F) for 50 minutes.

Meanwhile prepare sauce by combining brown sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan. Add water to drained apple liquid to make 1½ cups. Stir into brown sugar mixture. Add mustard, raisins and remaining apple slices and blend well. Cook over medium heat until mixture thickens and becomes clear, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in vinegar.

To serve: Remove ham square from oven; let stand for 5 minutes. Drain any fat from ham square. Invert square onto wooden plank or ovenware platter. Drop mashed potatoes from spoon into mounds around outside of square or pipe through pastry tube. Brush with melted butter and brown under broiler. Cut into squares and serve with apple-raisin sauce. Makes 6-8 servings.

From Three Alaskan Colleges Come Recipes for Exotic King Crab Dishes

From three Alaskan colleges come recipes for King Crab.

Sent to the Times and Post, these include a souffle, a cheese-sauce casserole, and the barbecued version.

The latter was prepared by Hazel Crosby, food service chief at Sheldon Jackson Junior College in Sitka.

Patricia James, food service director at Alaska Methodist University at Anchorage volunteers the casserole.

From the University of Alaska, College Alaska, Dr. Lola Cremeans Tilly, professor emeritus of home economics, tells the details of the souffle.

ALASKA KING CRAB SOUFFLE

Serves four to six:

Melt over low heat:
- ¼ cup butter or margarine

Blend in:
- ¼ cup flour

Pour in all at once:
- 1 cup cold milk

Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Remove from heat.

Beat in, one at a time:
- 4 egg yolks

Add:
- 1 cup Alaskan King Crab meat (frozen or canned) cut into small pieces or chunks.

Season with:
- Onion juice
- Dash pepper
- Chopped parsley

Cool mixture.

Beat until stiff but not dry:
- 4 egg whites to which have been added ½-teaspoon salt

Fold crab mixture carefully into egg whites.

Pour into a preheated 1½-quart casserole (greased on bottom only).

With a teaspoon, circle mixture about 1-inch deep approximately 1 inch from sides.

Bake:
- 325 degree oven 50 to 60 minutes until puffy and delicately brown, and a knife inserted halfway between center and outside comes out clean.

If souffle must stand, leave in oven with lowest heat possible.

ALASKA KING CRAB CASSEROLE WITH CHEESE SAUCE

Serves 12 generously.

Marinate:
- 2½ pounds King Crab meat (chunks and pieces), frozen or canned,

In:
- ½ cup Dill Sauce
- ¾ cup Sherry Wine

Cook:
- 2 6-ounce packages MJB white and wild rice mix according to package directions until half done — approximately 6 minutes. Do not drain, and do not use spices and herbs enclosed with mixture.

Combine:
- 1 finely chopped green pepper
- 1 bunch green onions, including tops, sliced
- 1 bunch finely chopped fresh parsley
- ¼ cup chopped capers
- 1 16-ounce can mushrooms, stems and pieces
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1 cup toasted slivered almonds
- 2 teaspoon Johnny's Seafood Seasoning
- Freshly ground course pepper to taste

Combine with crab and rice mixtures. Toss lightly.

Add:
- 3 10-ounce cans undiluted mushroom soup. Mix carefully. Spoon into buttered casserole or buttered individual shells.

Top with bread crumbs.

Bake:
- 350 degrees for 40 minutes

This is delicious just as it comes from the oven, or it may be topped with the following cheese sauce. Serve the cheese sauce in warmer.

Melt in double boiler:
- 1 12-ounce jar Kraft Cheez Whiz
- 3 dashes tabasco sauce
- ⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper

Serve very hot.

BARBECUED ALASKA KING CRAB

Use frozen or canned King Crab meat. Cut legs in half or in chunks. Heat in the following hot barbecue sauce. Serve in individual bowls with small amount of sauce, accompanied by hot garlic French bread.

Hot Barbecue Sauce

Yield: 2 gallons. May be stored in refrigerator.

Saute in heavy pot:
- 1½ cups minced onions
- 2 Tablespoons minced garlic

In:
- 1 cup salad oil

Add:
- ¾ cup bread flour, stir well until blended.

Add:
- 3 quarts hot brown stock, stir until smooth.

Dissolve:
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon dry mustard
- 2 teaspoons black pepper

In:
- 1 cup vinegar. Add to brown sauce.

Add:
- 2 quarts tomato sauce or puree
- Juice of three lemons
- 1 cup Worcestershire Sauce
- 1 tablespoon barbecue spice or chili

Simmer 30 minutes.

Add:
- Salt to taste, and adjust seasonings.

- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- Apricot Jam and Chocolate Icing

Cream butter and all but ¼ cup of the sugar until very fluffy. Gradually and thoroughly beat in chocolate. Beat in egg yolks one by one. Beat egg whites and reserved sugar until very stiff. Combine flour, nuts, cocoa, and baking powder. Gradually and lightly fold beaten egg whites into chocolate mixture, alternately with dusted-in flour mixture. Pour into buttered, floured 10-inch spring-form pan. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) about 1¼ hours or until cake is done and shrinks from sides of pan. Cool. Remove from pan. invert. When cake is completely cold, spread if with heated apricot jam (thinned with a little water if necessary). Or, in addition, slice cake through middle and spread with extra layer of apricot jam. Cover with Chocolate Icing. Serve with puff of whipped cream on each cake plate. This recipe is from "The Art of Viennese Cooking" by Marcia Colanm Morton (Doubleday) and is used by permission of the publisher.

Saucy Steak Uses Sauce, Then a Gravy

Condensed onion sauce gives the gravy for beef round steak after the meat's been braised in it. That makes this saucy as well as snappy!

One whole round steak, or portions of the round, may be used. If the market sells the round as bottom or top round steaks, one steak of each kind will give approximately the same amount, as will two of either.

Soup will contain most of the seasonings, accented only with a bit of celery and chili sauce.

Saucy Steak
- 1 beef round steak, cut ½-inch thick
- ¼ cup flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings pings
- 1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed onion soup
- ½ cup water
- ½ teaspoon celery seed
- 2 tablespoons chili sauce

Mix together flour, salt and pepper. Pound steak with seasoned flour to ¼-inch thickness. Cut into serving pieces. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add onion soup, water, celery seed and chili sauce. Cover tightly and simmer 1½ hours or until meat is tender. 5 to 6 servings.

Lots of Lettuce

There's an exceptionally good supply of western iceberg lettuce this winter.

S.S.F. Sets Television New Community Rate

South San Francisco set the monthly rate for community television antennae service in the city at $4 for a single unit; however, over objections of several CATV companies seeking franchise for the service.

C. M. Kirkeeng, a representative of the Tele-Vue Systems, Inc., CATV firm, told councilmen the national average charge for the service is $5 per month for a single unit, and the $4 rate "is cutting it very close."

The city set a maximum fee of $1 per month for each unit added after the initial service is purchased.

City Attorney John Noonan said the council "will be asked to increase the rate in the future, whether it is set at $4 or $5, and I would prefer to wait and see what the profits look like before accepting the higher figure."

Noonan said indications are that the companies would realize a 300 per cent profit over an 11-year period at the $4 rate.

However Kirkeeng and the other CATV company spokesmen said his figures did not account for replacements and improvements in the systems which would "nullify a very large portion of that 300 per cent."

The council resolution regulating the CATV agreements also stipulates a maximum installation fee of $15, which will be returnable after 15 months of continuous use of the service.

Kirkeeng said his company ordinarily charges no installation fee if residents subscribe to the service within 30 days of the date it is offered in their area. If they subscribe after the 30-day period has expired, an installation fee of $25 is charged. The fee is not refundable.

In addition to setting fees, the council resolution prohibits the sale or service of television sets by CATV franchise holders.

TV Chef Dick Paulson Debuts Steak Special

DICK PAULSON, who demonstrates his culinary talents in his popular restaurant at The Putter located next to Lee Brothers Market in Burlingame Plaza, has personality plus. It brings to mind the days of old when your Bright Lighter launched Chef Cardini on a television career that later brought him fame and plenty of "spaghetti and meat balls" for the kitchen table. Understand Chef Paulson is a former TV chef — and he has the pictures and a well-filled scrap book to back up his boast that "he serves the finest food West of the Rockies." In order to acquaint you with his palatable steak dinners, Chef Paulson will offer his regular $3.50 full-course steak dinner for just $2.50 (soup and salad served family style) starting Friday, January 27 through Thursday, February 2. Just clip out the coupon appearing in the Putter's advertisement and feast like a king for just $2.50. Luncheon is served from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.; dinner, 5:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Not open Saturday or Sunday. Cocktails of your choice are served in the adjoining Putter lounge.

STICKNEY'S OF SAN MATEO continues to feature the talented piano stylings of Gary Lee each Tuesday through Saturday night in the Stagecoach cocktail lounge of the Fifth Avenue Center. Lee plays and sings pop tunes during the specially-priced 4:30 to 7 p.m. happy hour cocktail period (featuring complimentary hot and cold hors d'oeuvres), and then entertains diners in the adjacent Stagecoach dining room for the remainder of the evening . . . the health club at the Cabana Hotel in Palo Alto, which is managed by Health Instructor Ed Belbow, is open for women six days a week from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. The men's hours are from 3 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Complete facilities are offered . . . One of the world's top practitioners of the art of the Greek bouzouki, a guitar-like musical instrument, is Bobbie Tsobanakis of the Balkan Trio, currently showcased at the Balkan Village, Los Altos, Tuesday through Sundays.

Gary Lee

THE CULINARY TALENTS of Dick Paulson, gentleman chef at The Putter, Burlingame Plaza, have caught the fancy of countless steak and chicken diners, and you owe it to yourself to try the extra-fine cuisine that his intimate dining room affords . . . The big draw in the lounge of the New Southern restaurant, South San Francisco, is Dave Little, who presides over the sensational Chamberlin organ. Dave and his sing-along music will take you back to your days of courting, schooling and just fooling around. If you feel like singing and happen not to know the lyrics, owners Reno and Julio Donati have rigged it so the tunes are shown on the wall behind the organ . . . True, it's been foggy in the area, lately, but step into the Kahili Hut in Belmont and you'll find the tropical conditions of the South Pacific Islands. Jim Boasso has created his own haven here, and his special Mai Tais are enough to convert anyone to his way of life.

Reno Donati

THE INTERNATIONAL INN restaurant in South San Francisco enjoys the reputation of being quite the place for luncheon gatherings. The noontime crowds here are mostly regulars who obviously find the food and service to be top drawer. General Manager Phil Rauscher and his efficient staff are behind the success of this conveniently-located dining mecca . . . Have you visited the elegant Oreste's restaurant, San Francisco? If not, you have a treat in store. The decor is fabulous with wine bottles of every size and shape adorning the walls. And to add to the romantic atmosphere, Frank Judnich, talented strolling accordionist, will entertain you with your favorite request . . . Tom Zucchelli of Bruno's, downtown San Mateo, is a charter member of "Friends Unlimited."

Phil Rauscher

FRANK FANELLI, popular recording star for RCA Victor appearing at Harvey's Resort Hotel Theater Lounge, South Lake Tahoe, January 25 through February 9, is this year taking another step on a career climb that started several years ago and has advanced steadily ever since. Frank Fanelli goes on a tour with Jack Benny immediately after his Harvey's Resort Hotel engagement . . . Hollywood film star Omar Sharif will head a list of celebrated Bridge buffs entering the third annual Las Vegas Riviera Masters International Bridge Tournament. The six-day event opens at Riviera Hotel January 29 . . . You'll be giving all your friends the tip if you visit North Lake Tahoe's beautiful Crystal Bay Club for a fun-filled weekend. You can't miss it. The Crystal Bay Club's big, glittering sign can be seen all the way across the Lake. Enjoy relaxing cocktails, excellent cuisine in either the Crystal dining room of the Steak House, or visit the snack bar, salad bar or coffee shop.

IN THE MOOD for Cultured Chinese cuisine? Have in mind an elegant garden-like atmosphere? Z. L. Loo's distinguished Charm Garden restaurant in Belmont invites your dining scrutiny. It's also suggested that you try Curry Puff or Spring Rolls with your cocktails . . . The Autolite Division of Ford Motor Company is among several Bay area firms and organizations holding meetings at the Holiday Inn in South San Francisco, this week. The Inn will host Autolite for a series of District conferences today. . . . Dow Jones, topless dancer at the Moulin Rouge on San Francisco's Broadway, has a pet alligator that she keeps in her apartment. So what else is new? . . . Wil Baranco and his jazz combo have the dancers jumping in the Terrace Lounge at the Resort Hotel Claremont, Berkeley, every Friday and Saturday nights. No minimum or cover charge for this popular East Bay event.

Z. L. Loo

LEW LEHR'S is inaugurating a new policy commencing Monday, January 30. That Monday and each Monday thereafter the restaurant will not be open. With the restaurant closing to the public on Mondays, they can now make that day available for banquets, private parties, dinners, etc., accommodating up to 100 persons. Advance reservations would be necessary . . . Want to enjoy a traditional five course Italian dinner at a family budget price? Stop in the New Tivoli on Grant Avenue, San Francisco, and check out the menu and cordial atmosphere. It's guaranteed to meet your approval. Afterwards, tell owner-host Nick Finocchio that your Bright Lighter made the suggestion . . . Fresh new comedy material, over $10,000 in new costumes and an entirely new time slot greeted "Bottoms Up '67" when the adult comedy revue returned to the Continental Theater of Hotel Thunderbird, Las Vegas.

"Banky" Prefers To Put in Office Shift

Had an enjoyable chat with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Whallon, two of my favorite Peninsula gourmet friends (he's the owner of the McCullough Sign Company), and dining "steadies" at Scotty Campbells, the flourishing Prime Rib and Steak House in Redwood City. It seems their recently-acquired cat, "Banky", which was featured in "Our Animals," a magazine well read by pet fanciers, would rather perch on a shelf behind Mr. Whallon's office desk than recline on a soft chair or on a cushion. To each his own!

Phil Lehr and his wife, at a cocktail party hosted by Lt. Gov. Robert Finch, were warmly greeted by several people who told him how much they enjoyed his TV shows. Phil is a deadringer for Mitch Miller, the "Singalong With Mitch" man.

Expansion Plans Villa Chartier

Big things are in store for Villa Chartier patrons who make this "Peninsula "foodmark" since 1925" their banquet and dining headquarters. Emerson Murfee, who owns and operates both the exotic Lanai restaurant and the Villa Chartier, has expansion plans which include doubling the seating capacity for large banquet parties. Did you know that seven banquet rooms are available for special occasions, complete with private bars?

In response to a very nice letter from Ruth Puccinelli which informs Yours Truly that she is the one responsible for the oil paintings that are on display at Vince Licata's Italian and Seafood restaurant: The nautical scenes add greatly to the decor of this most-sought-out restaurant, and you couldn't have picked out a better place to show-case your work. Incidentally, Ruth is a member of the Thirty and One Artists and the Peninsula Art Association.

Raquel Flores Sinaloa Castanet Queen

Two of the most exciting performers in the all-Latin revue at Luz Gacia's Sinaloa are Raquel Flores, "Queen of the Castanets," and Victor Buelna, romantic troubador.

Raquel does a fiery dance with clacking castanets and delights males in the audience with flirtatious eyes. Victor's glorious tenor voice is now featured on an L.P. which he recently made in Mexico.

The Singing Sandovals, a handsome brother-sister mariachi group, also stand out on the bill.

Extensive Wine List La Touraine Feature

Most fine restaurants offer a selective wine list, but La Touraine in Burlingame has one of the most extensive selections of foreign and domestic wines imaginable. If making a decision seems difficult, just ask co-owner Ernest Luisetti for assistance —he's considered an expert by many.

If you'd like to see Rick Barry, the great basketball star of the San Francisco Warriors, drop into Lew Lehr's in the Marina around 5 p.m. on game nights. Rick and his wife go for a Lehr steak those nights.

Have a big party coming up? Why not call Dan Biagi at the Cote D'Azur Continental restaurant in Atherton and reserve his cozy wine room? It's mighty impressive.

Swingers wanted: Get in step with the In-Steps with dancing five nights a week, Wednesday through Sunday, at Larry's Edgemar Club, Pacifica's only nightclub.

Shakey's Pizza Parlor Grand Opening Feb. 4

THE FAST-GROWING national chain of Shakey's Pizza Parler has now reached Daly City, Arthur Hoff has announced that the parlor, officially named Shakey's Pizza Parlor and Ye Public House, will have its Grand Opening Saturday, February 4 with a celebration featuring popular radio personality Al Collins of KSFO; Hocus Pocus, the Clown of KNTV Channel 11, live ragtime music, and free prizes and refreshments for all. The parlor opened its doors on January 23, but they're waiting until February 4 for the Grand Opening celebration so that people will have plenty of time to pick up their free tickets for the prize drawings which will be held once an hour on Saturday, February 4. The new Daly City Shakey's will follow the pattern of the Shakey chain — which has been so successful in over 200 locations coast to coast and is already an accepted feature of Bay Area life.

Scout-A-Whirl to Be An April Girl Scout Affair

North County Girl Scouts, using their new 1967 calendars, are marking a red letter day for Sunday, April 2.

That will be the day for Scout-A-Whirl, a Bay Area-wide festival of Girl Scouting. An estimated 40,000 girls will fill Oakland Coliseum complex.

Featured will be a "Scouts Own" staged by the Fremont Association; exhibits, sharing troop programming; pageant in the stadium; individual scout special interest in the display area and singing and folk dancing in the glassed-in arena. The public may purchase tickets through scouting families.

Scout-A-Whirl will be represented by a stylized globe representing the variety of scouting activities and their world-wide scope. This is a girl-centered activity day — what scouts do and learn to do meeting by meeting — their routine activities and their special talents and interests.

Daly City Scouts have held two leaders' meetings to start things whirling. Westlake Association has taken as its general theme "Scouting in the Out-of-Doors." Brownies will plan give-aways. Juniors plan demonstrations on fire building in miniature. Troop 699, Wm. Bjorkquist, bedrolls. Girl Scouts 632 and 973, Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Don Wilson, Knots 2817, Mrs. David Parker, First-aid in the outdoors with Mrs. Mary Jesnen and art in the outdoors with Mrs. George Hidzick. Troop eight with Mrs. Robert Eversole has taken trip planning and Troop 65 with Mrs. Philip Foster is demonstrating sewing. Exhibits, entries and displays can be used in such things as outdoor cooking, back packing, citizenship etc. Liason chairmen, Mrs. Thomas Baldwin and Mrs. George Hidzick have pertinent information.

Pathfinder To Be Topic At Luncheon

Jedediah Strong Smith, California Pathfinder, will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Leland D. Case at the January 28 luncheon meeting of the San Francisco Bay Area Chapter of the Huguenot Society.

The luncheon is scheduled for noon at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley with the program and a business meeting to follow.

Dr. Case is director of the California History Foundation, secretary of the Westerners Foundation and editor of The Pacific Historian Magazine, all with headquarters on the Stockton campus of the University of the Pacific.

The story of Jedediah Smith is of particular interest to members of the Huguenot Society since "Jed" was of Huguenot ancestry.

An honor guest at the January 28 meeting will be the Reverend Michel Alexander Vallon, founder of the San Ramon Valley Congregational Church in 1954.

Dr. Vallon, who is also of Huguenot descent, was born in Aix-en-Provence, France. He received his B.A. in Paris, License of Laws at Grenoble and his Th.D. at the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley.

Dr. Vallon was for several years assistant professor of philosophy and humanities at the San Francisco State College. He won the Americanism Medal given in 1962 by local chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

California history buffs and persons of Huguenot ancestry interested in attending the meeting may contact the chapter president, Mrs. Andrew Ross of 209 Skyline Drive,

shiftless

That's right. The new Peugeot 404, one of the seven best made cars in the world, is positively shiftless.

HOW COME! New automatic transmission.

Now, this is no ordinary automatic, just as the Peugeot is no ordinary car. (We didn't spend years perfecting it, just to make it like everyone else) Our new transmission is custom designed from scratch to be completely compatible with the big new 80-horse Peugeot engine. (And you still get over 25 miles to the gallon, on regular gas).

Now, if you're the type who still likes to shift for himself, we also have a standard 4-speed synchromesh transmission.
